S. D. Public Library G

THE OCEAN BEACH NEWS

NRA MEMBER U.S.A. WE DO OUR PART

A Booster for Ocean Beach, Point Loma, Mission Bay and Mission Beach

TWELFTH YEAR, No. 46 | OCEAN BEACH CALIFORNIA | FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1934 | PHONE, BAYVIEW 0741 | FIVE CENTS THE COPY

Chamber Commerce Investigates Taxes

The Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce held their regular meeting Monday evening with a good attendance—for this community.

E. E. Steele reported on the Exposition dinner meeting he attended at the U. S. Grant hotel, and motion was made and carried that the Chamber of Commerce heartily endorse plans for the exposition to be held in San Diego in 1935.

Albert Dumont reported 1915 names were subscribed in two and one-half days, to petitions asking for a fishing pier at Ocean Beach, however, no encouragement had been received from the San Diego city council up to the present time, in fact pleas of committees appearing before the council to be heard, had been entirely ignored in the last two or three meetings attended.

Further efforts were suggested in endeavoring to get our beach cleaned up, as well as parkings cleared of large and unsightly weeds.

A letter from the Pacific Beach Chamber of Commerce asking cooperation in celebrating Easter Sunrise service on Mount Soledad was read. This suggestion met with approval and Dr. H. E. Bailey was appointed to represent this organization in preparation of plans, which will include talent and cooperation from all the north shore, La Jolla, Pacific Beach, Mission Beach, Ocean Beach and Pt. Loma.

The delegation who had visited the assessor's office investigating the assessed value of Ocean Beach property reported, total assessed value not including unsecured personal property, $1,608,845; total taxes for 1933, $104,402.50.

HODGES DAM REPLICA SAN DIEGO EXHIBIT LOS ANGELES COUNTY FAIR

The Hodges multiple-arch dam which irrigates 15,000 acres of San Diego county has been chosen by R. R. McLean, county agricultural commissioner, as the main feature of their display to be shown in Agricultural hall, Los Angeles County fair, Sept. 15 to 30.

M. E. Salsberry, of McLean's staff, who is in charge of design and preparations, indicates that a miniature of the project, to be 16 feet long, and five feet high with columns at the four corners rising to a height of 21 feet, is nearing completion.

The dam and spillway will be shown spanning the width of the canyon with its mountainous sides, mechanical devices producing a constant fall of water over the spillway.

Columns at the four corners are to be built up with choicest oranges, and at the apex of each pillar will be a brilliant silver "flitter dome" with continual alternation of light in red, white and blue shades. Altogether 228 lighting units will be at work in the display, 76 of each color in direct illumination being used except for the four column domes.

A generous array of citrus fruits, melons, vegetables and other agricultural products will be used for the base at the four sides of the exhibit.

Approval of the display has been given by the San Diego county board of supervisors, one object being to acquaint this region with the benefits of the new dam, which is 130 feet high, 750 feet wide, has a capacity of 37,700 acre feet and a daily flow of 4,300,000 gallons.

ADVANCE NIGHT SET FOR NEXT MONDAY EVE

Point Loma O. E. S. will observe advance night September 17 in the Masonic hall, Ocean Beach. Edythe Frances Kenline and Harry P. Sweet will preside in the east. The stations of associate matron and conductress will be filled by Gladgs B. Nelson and Hazel Lathrop. Mary Lee junior matron will fill the station of associate conductress and Edgar Hastings associate patron. A splendid party for the evening is being planned by the chairman Laura Rankin. All members and O. E. S. visitors will be cordially welcomed.

MUSINGS WHILE MEANDERING

(By Merrill Stuart)

A guest entered The Little House of the Wide Open Door one Sunday evening and broupht the far world with her. Well-known to all, this guest of mine, because of long and faithful years of efficient public service to her fellow townsmen.

As she sat reposefully in her modish black gown, a few lovely jewels, waving silvery hair, I thought how kind those years had been to her, taking little, giving much of graciousness, tolerance, knowledge of human nature. A keen understanding mind for enjoyment of life. In realms of travel and books she is enthusiastically young and of graphic and entertaining viewpoint. Companionable, also, and that to me has ever been one of her greatest charms.

"So you've been browsing around the Pacific on another glorious trip?" I smiled. She smiled too, and presently we were off on that enchanted cruise!

"All ashore that's going ashore!" Warning of big whistle. Crisp command from bridge, "Let go the lines!" Slowly widening water as the beautiful ship pulls out. Waving hands and handkerchiefs. Good bye! Au revoir!" Last vision of homeland fading mistily — and the great adventure has begun.

The ship — its sheer luxury, smooth efficiency, courtesy of officers and crew — is all yours. Thoughtful attentions. Restrictions none; freedom. Sweep of clean air, sunshine, lazy relaxation to long swells of sea. Entertainments, teas, parties; gaiety, music, dancing, movies; lectures and planned sight-seeing. Something thrilling every minute! Shipboard friendships formed quickly; worthwhile and delightful people with inquiring minds and joyous spirits — all going somewhere. Pleasuring without end on this radiant voyage. A dream come true!

Then Honolulu's jagged lava peaks; pineapples, sugar, palm forests; glorious gardens, homes; gorgeous hotels, shops. Happy people in love with life; flower garlands, sensuous music, surf delights. Rich and beauteous city — memories to draw you back again. Haunting strains of Aloha as ship steams slowly away to South Sea Islands. Like people are they — all different, all alluring. Each group its individual problems of ownership, politics, labor; each its primitive customs and dances; friendly natives. Hospitable dreamland, its fascination understood only by those who go there.

New Zealand — different from tropics. Prosperous farming country, grazing live stock on year-round green grass. Wide expanses, caves. Auckland's regular red-roofed homes. People of courtesy and manners.

Australia has its history — convict days to modern civilization. "All-white Australia" keeps it sparsely settled. On islands northward crowded millions of yellows and blacks. Great distances, modern cities; strange animals with strange habits; gay cockatoos and bright birds.

British New Guinea. Bali's temples, gods, shrines, ancient culture. Java's native life. Singapore, Batavia — fascination in their very names.

Siam's fearful jungles that engulf cities. Bankhok's temples, monasteries, pagodas, grand palaces, floating houses, de-venomed snakes.

China — where labor is cheap and human life cheaper. Where east meets west in gay cities, Hong Kong, Shanghai; narrow streets — demons walk only in straight lines, legends say. Rickshas — coolies in shafts. Peiping's walled cities, one within another. Endless temples, celestial marvels.

Japan — "Land of Color, Courtesy and Charm." Strange mixtures of old and new. Mysterious romance flowers, art — and an army and navy. Cherry blossoms before shrines — and a press and laws. Modern cities sprung from earthquake ruins.

And then — once more Honolulu, paradise on earth, where you'd stay forever if you could.

Isn't this a trip for the gods — and lucky mortals? Others will want to hear more about it; so my guest has kindly consented to give an evening to an interested group. The date to be announced later. Meanwhile, dear guest of mine, I thank you for the pleasure you've given me.

Former Resident Visits Johnstown, Pa.

(The Daily Tribune, Johnstown, Pa.)

A. J. Allen Left Johnstown Day or Two Before Flood of 1889 and Was Reported Drowned; Now Taking Trip of 10,000 Miles

Johnstown yesterday had an interesting world traveler in the person of A. J. Allen of Ocean Beach, Calif., who paid his first visit here in 45 years. Mr. Allen lived here in 1889 in the old Grand Central Hotel, Iron street, which was then operated by the late Emanuel James. A day or two before the flood of May, 1889, he left the city for Pittsburgh, and probably saved his life by leaving the city. He returned several days after the flood to find the hotel had been washed away. The news had gone to Wales, his former home, that he had been drowned and it was not for many months afterward that his relatives learned he was still alive.

.....His present trip was started on June 26 in California and will take him over an itinerary of 10,000 miles.

The world-traveler carries with him a large piece of fine embroidered linen on which he has the postmaster of every important town he visits stamp the postmark of that town. On a trip in 1930, he had 318 postmarks stamped on a piece of linen, on a trip in 1932 he had 210 postmarks. The Johnstown postmaster yesterday stamped the piece of linen he carries on his 1934 trip, making the 100th postmark to date.

Mr. Allen was accompanied to Johnstown by a son, F. J. Allen, who is employed by the Maryland Casualty Company, Baltimore, Md., and resides at 58 Point View Road, Pittsburgh. They left here yesterday afternoon for Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. Allen is traveling by automobile. He came across the northern section of the United States and Canada, and will go down along the eastern coast to Florida, then across the southern section of the United States and back to California.

TOWNSEND PENSION PLAN CLUBS BEING FORMED HERE

Wednesday evening preliminary plans were laid at meeting held in the Woman's clubhouse for the organization of several clubs in Ocean Beach to promote the Townsend Old Age Pensions, by Fred Kraft, who has been named as district manager for this section.

Elmer E. Steele was made temporary chairman with Katherine Rigg as temporary secretary-treasurer.

All persons interested in the Townsend Old Age Pension plan are invited to attend another meeting Monday evening, September 17, in either the woman's clubhouse or the American Legion hall, at 8 p. m., this meeting being called to elect permanent officers of the first club and to sign petitions and generally promote the Townsend plan.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE RADIOCAST

Local radio listeners will be interested in the announcement of the broadcasting of an authorized Christian Science lecture over KFAC Monday, September 17, at 8 p. m., when Mr- Charles V. Winn, C. S. B., of Pasadena, member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., lectures for Ninth Church of Christ, Scientist, Los Angeles.

Patronize The News Advertisers

Stolen Cheney Auto Found in Los Angeles

More light was spread on the burglaries here, reported in the Ocean Beach News last week, when the auto stolen from the Chas. Cheney home 4535 Cape May Ave., was found in Los Angeles, where it had set two or three days before being investigated and reported back here by the police. The radio stolen at the same place was also recovered.

In the car was a piece of bracelet stolen from another house here at the same time and first aid kit that had been used, leading local officers to believe that the same men who stole valuable rabbits from the B. M. Haddox home, had committed these several burglaries the same week, and carries out the belief of Mr. Haddox that he had wounded one of the men when he shot at them with a shot gun as they were getting away from his place.

The Cheney auto was kept at Los Angeles an extra day so that police might endeavor to find finger prints that would aid them in catching the burglars.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN HEADQUARTERS OPENS IN OCEAN BEACH

The election of Upton Sinclair and the entire Democratic ticket on November 6, is the goal towards which the campaigners of the headquarters opened this week at 1918 Bacon St., are working.

Rent and other expenses of the headquarters is being donated by our many loyal supporters in Ocean Beach. As there are no paid workers in this entire organization we can conduct a campaign at less expense than our opponents.

We need chairs, desks, a blackboard, typewriter and a number of other articles. These to be used only for the duration of the campaign and then returned to owners. Anyone willing to donate the use of any of the above please communicate with C. J. Schumacker, 4938 Cape May avenue, BV-0389-W, or notify headquarters.

C. J. Schumacher.

INSKO'S RETURN FROM SUMMER VACATION IN IOWA

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Myron Insko and sons returned home. In June Mrs. Insko and boys motored to Iowa, where they visited relatives and also spent some time in Minnesota on a similiar errand.

In Iowa, where Mr. Insko's parents reside, they fared pretty well, he states. A 90 per cent corn crop is reported in his immediate locality with prices much better than a year ago.

A month ago Mr. Insko went east to visit a short time with his parents. He found fairly cool weather there and a most pleasant time enjoyed at his former home.

Coming home the party decided on seeing Yellowstone park, and had just spent the first night inside the east entrance to the Yellowstone when they had car trouble and waited eight days, at the fishing bridge near the outlet of Yellowstone lake, for parts to come from the factory.

They had a cabin in the Yellowstone and the boys enjoyed treeing bears and catching mountain trout.

Coming home they left the Yellowstone park by the south entrance, going down the south fork of the Snake river thru Jackson's Hole, out over the Teton pass, and down into the Snake River valley, Salt Lake City, Las Vegas, and then into the Golden state and home.

GREAT TEACHERS AND MODERN PROGRESS

The Ocean Beach Theosophical club will meet on Thursday evening Sept. 20th, 1934 at 7:30 in the civic center on Abbott street with J. W. MacCausland as leader of the discussion on Great Teachers and Modern Progress. Mrs. Mora Forbes will assist in answering questions which are always invited. All interested in learning of life are welcome.

The News does Job Painting

INTERESTING PLANS FOR OCTOBER CONVENTION

Myron Insko, president, was home again and in charge of Kiwanis Wednesday, reporting one of the pleasures of his recent trip was the arrival home.

Ed Wickern was chairman of the day's program.

Don Hansen, past president of the San Diego club, told the members of plans for the California-Nevada district convention to be held in San Diego, October 18-19-20, 1934. The convention will start with a men's golf tournament at La Jolla on Thursday, Oct. 18, then follow meetings and program at Hotel Del Coronado and Balboa Park on Friday and Saturday with a special luncheon for the ladies at Agua Caliente one day during the men's business session. Some 2,000 Kiwanians and their wives are expected for this convention and gala preparations are in the making to be competed with a banquet and ball at the famous Coronado hostelry.

Chairman Ed gave the balance of the time on the program for President Insko to tell of his trip to Iowa by train and then home by auto.

Herb Mohan, member who has been away all summer reported that he was leaving again immediately for the Los Angeles section; that he had secured a leave of absence for a year from his duties at the San Diego Army & Navy Academy; but that in the fall of 1935 he hoped to return again and take up his duties there.

NEW SIGN ON CAUSEWAY ROAD DIRECTS TRAFFIC TO BEACH

The first of the week a new sign was placed on the Causeway by the Auto Club of Southern California at the intersection of West Point Loma Blvd., directing traffic to Ocean Beach and Mission Beach.

When this new street extension was opened the Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce asked for the sign and though it has been a little while gettting placed, it will no doubt be of value in directing travel to these closest of San Diego beaches.

SERA BAND CONCERT GIVEN MONDAY NIGHT

Though only a day's notice was given Ocean Beach that we might again have a concert by the SERA band, some 200 people turned out to hear the musicians in a varied concert of splendid band selections, rendered at the civic center building at the foot of Santa Monica avenue.

Band leader Larkin has proved his efficiency with the baton and now has his men playing a varied selection of stirring music that is pleasing to the ears.

The Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce again furnished a bus for the band's transportation, as well as paying part of the cost of circulars for advertising the event.

MOTORISTS SHOULD USE CARE AND WATCH OUT FOR CHILDREN

More than 3,700 children were struck down and killed by automobiles in the United States last year, reports the Public Safety department of the National Automobile club. Five hundred youngsters were killed as occupants of cars in collision. Can there be any greater plea for more caution in driving? Especially now that most schools are in session and greater numbers of children are crossing streets and highways daily.

Many drivers seem to forget that in residential districts, especially, children may dart into the street at any moment. Many parents do not seem to be aware of the fact that young children need to be warned constantly of the hazards of the highways.

ELIM TABERNACLE

Cape May and Ebers Street

The evangelistic campaign being conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Lionel P. Furman at Elim tabernacle is being continued with great success.

Services are held every evening except Monday and Saturday.

New School Building Ready In November

The new Ocean Beach elementary school building construction is now coming along in a satisfactory manner and the contractor, it is said, hopes to have the structure ready for occupancy about the 10th of November.

This new building on the corner of Sunset Cliffs boulevard and Santa Monica avenue will make a vast improvement over the old buildings there, and the children fondly hope the new class rooms and auditorium will be ready before the Christmas holidays.

New Home Being Built On W. Point Loma Blvd.

At 4654 West Point Loma Blvd. a new home is going up on a 26x41 foundation for L. Griffin.

The building will be a stucco residence containing two bedrooms, den, kitchen, breakfast room, etc.

Mr. Griffin is reported as a retired business man from the east.

COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN FOR $205,840

The official 1935 quota for the Community Chest of San Diego county, which will be sought by a volunteer army of 2500 workers in the campaign beginning October 15, was announced as $205,840 at a recent meeting of Chest officers with agency board members.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Dana Adams Schmidt of Los Angeles and Monroe Jang of Marysville, winners of Bank of America's two $2,000 university scholarships, received certificates of the awards from A. P. Giannini at the California State Fair Wednesday.

Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Education delivered the presentation address.

The two boys were awarded the scholarships for their essays on "America in 1964", in a statewide competition conducted by the bank to determine current trends of thought of young Californians. Schmidt's essay dealt with influences of education and of governmental changes, while Jang wrote on Economic and Social Advancements.

The winners were selected by a committe of judges composed of Drs. Robert Gordon Sproul, Ray Lyman Wilbur and Rufus B. Von Kleinsmid, Presidents respectively of the University of California, Stanford and U. S. C.

Young Jang has another year of his high school course; after which he intends to use his scholarship to study economics at the University of California. Schmidt, who has completed his freshman year at Pomona College, will continue study of journalism at that institution.

METHODIST CHURCH SERVICES

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the 11 o'clock hour in the Methodist church. The pastor will speak on the "New Covenant," taking for a text John 4: 14, "And we have beheld and bear witness that the Father hath sent the Son to be the Saviour of the World."

Music will be in charge of Mrs. Forsythe. Dr. I. W. Parks and Mr. Hughes will sing a duet. The Sunday school will meet at 9:45 with classes for all ages.

Epworth League at 7 o'clock. All young people are invited. Jack Mason will lead.

BAPTIST CHURCH SERVICES

"Our Attainment of Grace" will be the subject of Rev. W. S. Dunn's sermon in the morning hour of worship. At 7:30 p. m. there will be a fifteen minutes song service, following which the pastor will speak on the subject "The Lost Ideal".

Special music will be rendered by the choir at both services.

CURRENT EVENTS PASS IN REVIEW

SENATOR T. D. SCHALL'S HARSH LANGUAGE TO PRESIDENT—TEXTILE STRIKE ORDERED.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
©, Western Newspaper Union.

SENATOR THOMAS D. SCHALL of Minnesota, Republican, engaged in an acrimonious controversy with President Roosevelt concerning the former's assertion that the administration is seeking to curb the press, and the blind senator used language that was so disrespectful to the Chief Executive that even Mr. Roosevelt's severest critics could not approve of it. The President had asked Mr. Schall for the "facts" on which he based his recent assertion that plans are under consideration for "a national press servite to take the place of the Associated Press, the Hearst News service and the United Press." This service, Mr. Schall said, would "have exclusive use of all government news and be in a position to give its service only to those newspapers loyal to the Roosevelt dictatorship."

Senator Schall

"Once these facts are in my hands," said Mr. Roosevelt, "they will receive immediate attention in order to make impossible the things you say will be done, because I am just as much opposed to them as you are."

The senator immediately sent to the President and made public a 650 word letter in which he said in part:

"You ask me for 'information' concerning what you yourself have done. Are you attempting to secure the facts so that you may be in a position to refute yourself?

"Your telegram to me bears out the suggestion of the constant effort to mislead and fool the public. Your desire to make yourself appear before the people of the United States as champion of a free press may be as insincere as your promises to the people when you accepted the Democratic nomination at Chicago with the statement that you were for their platform 100 per cent.

"To date you have not kept one of the covenants you pledged the people at that time. Let me recall your testy anger at your disappointment in keeping out of the press code the expression of a free press."

Schall went on to cite what he called "specific evidence" of an intention by the President to force a censorship of the press so that "your acts and the acts of your Communistic bureaucrats might be hidden from public gaze."

Mr. Roosevelt sent the senator an answer sharply rebuking him for his "vituperative" letter "which gives no facts and does not answer my simple request." In conclusion he said: "The incident is closed."

Schall retorted in somewhat milder language that he as a representative of the people could not let the affair rest, and reiterated his charges of press censorship in the government departments.

FRANCIS J. GORMAN, head of the strike committee of the United Textile Workers, sent to the sectional leaders the secret instructions for a general walk-out in the cotton textile industry on September 4. The order affects approximately 500,000 cotton mill workers; and about 300,000 more will go on strike then or soon after in the silk, rayon and woolen mills.

"I am fully convinced," Gorman told reporters, "that the strike not only will materialize but will be successful."

The administration, however, still hoped that the strike could be averted through the efforts of the national labor relations board headed by Lloyd Garrison. The union leaders have made it plain that they expect the strike will be indirectly financed by the government through the relief organizations. They admit that their unions have not sufficient funds to carry the workers through the prospective period of idleness.

There are reports that the cotton mill owners are not especially eager to have the walkout prevented, since their surplus of manufactured goods is still large.

HARRY HOPKINS, administrator of federal emergency relief, returned from his trip through England, France, Germany, Austria and Italy, which he said had given him many new ideas on work, relief, housing and unemployment insurance. From these ideas he evolved a plan for "permanent relief for all and unemployment for none," and this he laid before President Roosevelt. He did not make public the details, but indicated the plan contemplates public works on a bigger scale and unemployment insurance based on an American system that will not go bankrupt as did the European reserves.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S executive committee submitted, through its secretary, Donald Richberg, its first report on the accomplishments of the administration. After citing figures to show the extent of business improvement, the report added:

"The coincidence of business improvement with the NRA codification and the obvious, direct effects of NRA in preventing destructive price cutting, in stabilizing business operations, in improving the total purchasing power by providing increased employment without reduction of compensation, and in the increase of prices from loss levels to profit levels, demonstrate the dominant influence of the NRA in this industrial advance."

The council estimated that "total wages in manufacturing industries increased from $96,000,000 a week in June, 1933, to $132,000,000 a week in June, 1934, or 37.5 per cent. When this increase of 37.5 per cent is compared with an increased living cost of 9.6 per cent," the report said, "there remains despite increased cost of living a net increase of 25 per cent in the total purchasing power of manufacturing wage earners." The average increase of per capita weekly earnings was found to be only 8.5 per cent.

COTTON garment code amendments reducing the working hours and giving workers a wage increase have been signed by the President. The amendments, which affect plants in 42 states, are of far-reaching importance.

Sidney Hillman, labor advisory board member and Amalgamated Clothing union head, termed signing of the order "the most far-reaching move NRA has yet made to increase employment." It was hoped that this order would avert the threatened strike of the garment workers.

RETURNING from his swift trip to attend the funeral of Mr. Rainey, the President went directly back to Washington instead of going to his Hyde Park home. This change in plan was due, it was said, to the development of a bitter dispute between Gen. Hugh S. Johnson on one side and Donald Richberg, Mr. Roosevelt's chief industrial adviser, and Secretary of Labor Perkins on the other, over the new structure to be given the NRA.

The issue, it was disclosed, is whether there shall be a board of control in authoritative management of the NRA or a board which shall be more advisory in power, leaving the real control still in the hands of the administrator and his deputies. It was expected Mr. Roosevelt would take command of the situation and determine definitely what shall be done with the recovery administration.

General Johnson has said that, at the request of the President, he will remain with the NRA after its reorganization, and presumably he will be chairman of the board.

SPEAKER RAINEY'S death will result in a spirited contest among a number of men who are ambitious to succeed him. First in the line of succession, so to speak, is Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, who has been serving as majority floor leader and who is head of the Democratic national congressional committee. President Roosevelt is going to take no part in the race, but the more liberal of the New Dealers are known to favor Sam Rayburn of Texas. Well informed observers believe Byrns will be elected speaker and Rayburn floor leader. Other aspirants for the speakership are John E. Rankin of Mississippi, who has announced his candidacy; William B. Bankhead of Alabama, and John J. O'Connor of New York.

Joseph W. Byrns

Mr. Byrns has been a member of the house continuously since his election to the Sixty-first congress. His work as floor leader, in conjunction with Rainey's rule as speaker, was not especially pleasing to the New Dealers for some months during the last session, but before adjournment most of the misunderstandings were cleared up. In any case, the administration seldom interferes in the selection of the leaders of congress, not wishing to incur the enmity of powerful members of the party.

ORGANIZED labor scored a victory over Recovery Administrator Johnson when the national labor relations board ordered John Donovan, former president of the NRA union, dismissed by Johnson for "inefficiency," reinstated to his position with the labor advisory board.

"The agencies which are administering the law should in their own dealings uphold its purposes," the board said in its decision, giving a veiled reproof to Johnson for what it implied was a violation of section 7A of the NRA.

With rather bad grace the NRA accepted the rebuke and permitted Donovan to return to his job. Johnson himself had nothing to say about it, but Dr. Gustav Peck, Donovan's immediate superior, issued a statement in which he sniffed at the board's decision and warned Donovan that he would have to "toe the mark."

Soon after this the NRA announced that it does not regard itself as obliged to withdraw the Blue Eagle in cases where the national labor relations board has found companies guilty of violation of section 7A of the national industrial recovery act and of subsequent failure to obey the instructions of the board.

The labor board has recommended withdrawal of the Blue Eagle to the NRA compliance board in all cases where companies have disobeyed its instructions to reinstate discharged employees. The decision by the NRA will remove teeth from decisions by the board, since it may now hear cases, make decisions, and find that no penalties are inflicted for disobeying its orders.

CHANCELLOR HITLER of Germany, speaking at Fortress Ehrenbreitstein, held out the hand of friendship to France, offering peaceful cooperation after the settlement of the Saar problem which, he said, was "the last territorial difference separating Germany and France." He gave eloquent expression to Germany's alleged desire for peace and reconciliation.

The chancellor predicted the Saar would be restored to Germany by the plebiscite that is to be held on January 13. In this he may be deceiving himself, for recent dispatches say a Socialist leader named Braun has obtained the pledges of 70,000 Saar residents to vote against the return of the region to Germany.

TWO prominent Democrats, two Republicans almost equally prominent, and one leading industrialist, all of them of conservative tendencies, have united to organize the American Liberty league dedicated to a war on radicalism in the United States. The five founders of the league are: Alfred E. Smith, Democratic Presidential candidate in 1928; John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate in 1924; Nathan L. Miller, Republican ex-governor of New York; James W. Wadsworth, Republican congressman from New York, former senator and Presidential possibility for 1936; and Irenee Du Pont, manufacturer, who supported Smith in 1928 and Roosevelt in 1932. They believe the league membership will grow into the millions and that it will become an important element in the national life.

Jouett Shouse

For president of the organization the founders selected Jouett Shouse, former chairman of the Democratic national committee and president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment until repeal was accomplished. In a statement Mr. Shouse set for the purposes of the league as follows:

"It is a nonpartisan organization, formed, as stated in its charter, 'to defend and uphold the Constitution of the United States and to gather and disseminate information that (1) will teach the necessity of respect for the rights of persons and property as fundamental to every successful form of government, and (2) will teach the duty of government to encourage and protect individual and group initiative and enterprise, to foster the right to work, earn, save, and acquire property, and to preserve the ownership and lawful use of property when acquired.'"

To interviewers Mr. Shouse declared the league was not anti-Roosevelt, but it seemed clear that it will be opposed to most of the major purposes of the New Deal and the radical professors of the brain trust. He said he had visited the President and informed him fully of the purposes of the league, but he would not tell what Mr. Roosevelt's reaction had been.

LIEUT. COL. MARIO HERNANDEZ organized a plot to overthrow the government of President Mendieta of Cuba and establish a military dictatorship, but the authorities got wind of it and frustrated the conspiracy, in which a considerable part of the army was involved. Col. Fulgencio Batista, head of the army, said that Major Benitez and some soldiers were sent to arrest Hernandez and that eight men of the detachment were killed. Hernandez tried to shoot Benitez but was himself shot in the head and neck. The official report said Hernandez was being rushed toward Havana in an automobile and that the car upset, the prisoner being killed, though the others in the car were uninjured.

Maj. Angel Echevarria, commandant of Fourth infantry at Camp Columbia, and Capt. Augustin Erice, chief of the signal corps, conspirators with Hernandez, were captured later and a summary court martial sentenced them to death.

Four thousand troops in Pinar del Rio are confined to barracks, under arrest, and a thorough reorganization of the entire high command of the Cuban army is in full swing. About 200 civilians have also been arrested as parties to the conspiracy, charged with carrying messages to other military plotters in Matanzas and Camaguey provinces.

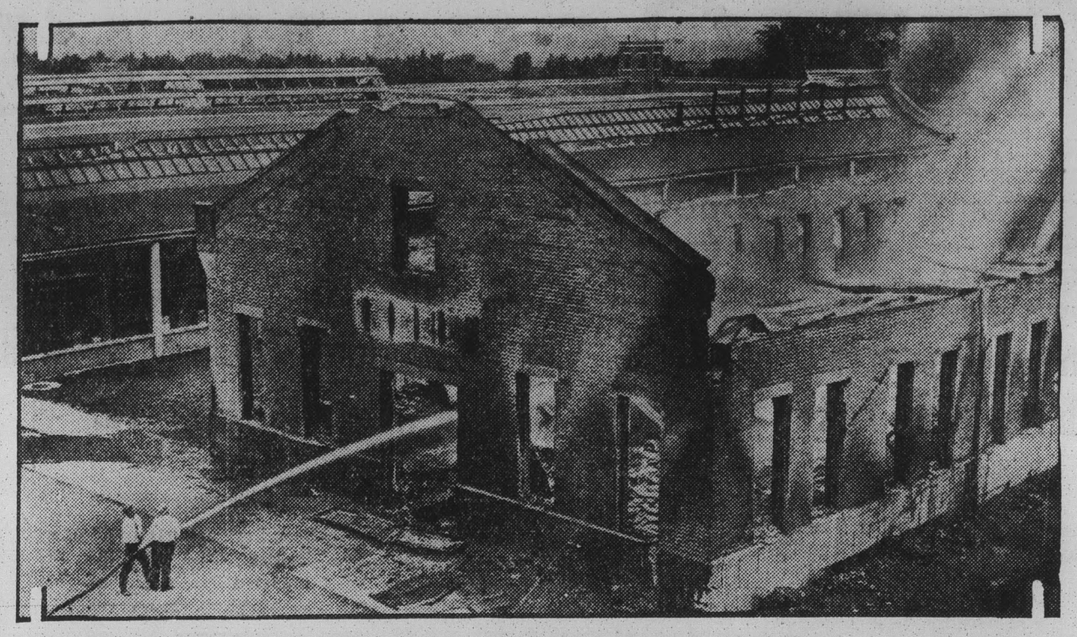
EIGHTY-EIGHT Soviet citizens are now under arrest in Manchukuo, charged with plotting against Manchukuo and Japan and sabotaging Japanese military trains. The Russian government, through Acting Consul General Rayvid at Harbin, has presented to the foreign office of Manchukuo a demand for an explanation of the arrests and insists on prompt measures for the release of the prisoners.

"The arrests were made without documents, accompanied by searches of the apartments and office of Soviet employees of the Chinese Eastern railway which have not been explained," Rayvid said.

The Japanese allege that some of the prisoners confessed to an attack on the Japanese military intelligence office at Suifenho (Pogranichnaya) to sending Manchurian and Corean communists into the territory, to wrecking trains carrying Japanese troops and munitions toward the frontier, and to creating general disturbances along the eastern line.

Probably before long will come the news that the Japanese have seized the Chinese Eastern railway, and that may very well result in war between Japan and Russia.

Print Shop Burned by Pontiac Prisoners



Convicts in Pontiac prison in Illinois started a bloody riot in the course of which one of them was killed and a score shot by the guards. The prisoners set fire to the print shop and it was destroyed.

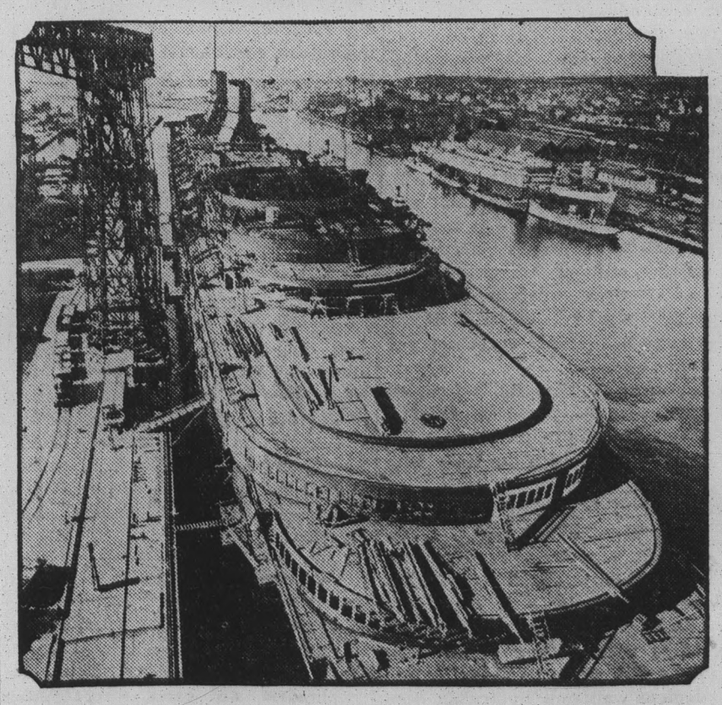
Aluminum Strikers Picketing a Mill

Pickets of the aluminum strikers are seen gathered at the entrance of the plant in New Kensington, Pa.

Ribs of a Prehistoric Monster

Some 125,000,000 years ago what is now the state of Wyoming was a gigantic tropical swamp, and the bones shown here were the ribs of a huge monster that waded around in the marsh grasses. Bit by bit the area dried. The last of the monsters huddled in a lake. The lake was dried, too, and proved to be their grave, now the hunting ground of paleontologists. Dr. Barnum Brown, examining his "find," is the head of the American-Sinclair expedition.

Completing Big French Liner



The Normandie, a "sea-going city" of 73,000 tons, whose engines are expected to give her a speed of over 30 knots, cutting down the transatlantic crossing to four days, as she now looks in the dockyard at St. Nazaire.

The Game of Ping-Pong

Ping-pong is a well organized sport with adherents numbering in the millions. The American Ping-Pong association estimates that at least 2,889,000 families have tables. There are numerous tournaments.

Another Myth

"What made you quit raising hogs?"

"In a simple-minded way," said Farmer Corntossel, "I thought they might help me along into the big government game. And then I discovered that the pork barrel was all a myth.

ROYAL VISITORS

Prince Tsunenori Kaya and his wife, Princess Toshiko Kaya, members of the Japanese imperial family, who are making a tour of the United States.

LONGEST SICK CALL

Dr. Francis D. Coman of Johns Hopkins, has departed to the actual end of the world on the longest "sick call" in history. He is bound for Little America. There at Commander Byrd's base camp he will administer to 56 men who are reported suffering from a mild attack of dysentery. He may stay there until the end of the expedition.

Will Be Largest Cathedral

The Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York city, when completed, will be the largest Gothic cathedral in the world, with 16,822,000 cubic feet of content. Fourteen million dollars has been raised for the cathedral in the last ten years, and it will take $10,000,000 more to complete it.

Valley of the Kings

The Valley of the Kings is on the west bank of the river opposite the towns of Luxor and Karnak, which are close to the site of the ancient city of Thebes. The loctaion is in Upper Egypt, about 320 miles south of Cairo.

Thrills Here for the Young Lady

PATTERN 1752

As to fashions for the younger set—they're cute and pert as can be, with necklines and sleeves designed to thrill any young heart. The adorable model sketched here has several possibilities, all of which Mother will want to work up. The complete way is the frock boasting the high collar, youthful shoulder ruffle and adorable sleeves. The ruffle may be omitted, if you like, and for summer days the frock would be cool and just as smart without the collar and sleeves. The new semi-belted waist line and front panel are designed to make you look divinely tall. Perfect for gayly printed cottons!

Pattern 1752 is available in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 6 takes 2 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

Smiles

MUST HAVE PEEPED

Two inmates of a lunatic asylum met during their daily walk in the grounds of the institution, and the following conversation took place:

First Inmate—Bet you can't guess what I've got in my hand?

Second Inmate—A horse and cart.

First Inmate—Ger-cher!—you've looked.

Out of Sight

Hostess—There's Mrs. Ponderosa. Her husband's bitterly opposed to extreme evening gowns, but she wears them all the same.

Guest—Well she has plenty of backbone.

Hostess—She must have, but she's so fat that you can't see a trace of it.

Disturbing Thought

"Do you think you could learn to love me?"

"Possibly, but, if I were a man, I'd hate to think I was an acquired taste."

ENJOY
WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT
THE PERFECT GUM
MINT LEAF FLAVOR
5¢
AND WORTH IT!

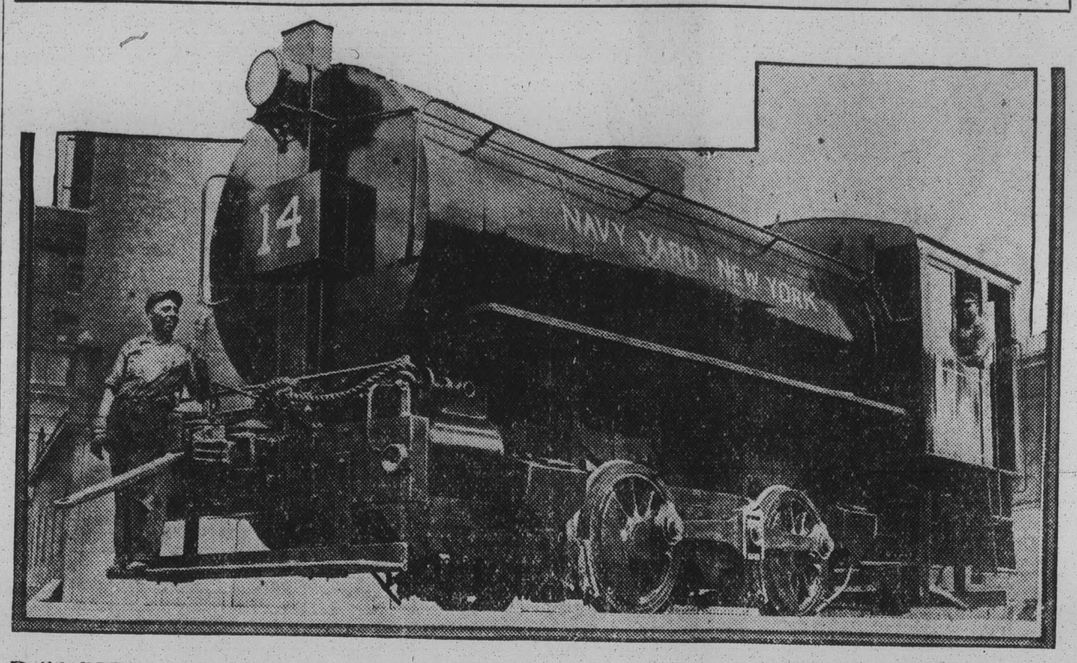
Here's the Fireless Steam Locomotive



REGARDED at first as a mere whimsy of a fanciful inventor, W. J. Kremer's fireless steam locomotive is being successfully utilized in the Brooklyn Navy yard. This latest product of the machine age dispenses with the conventional fire box, but boasts instead a water tank. Capable of moving at 12 miles per hour, the engine has treble the power of other engines its size.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W BURGESS

PETER DISCOVERS LINNET

IT DIDN'T take Peter Rabbit long to find the sweet singer whose happy trills had caught his attention. He spied him sitting on the tip-top of a fir tree in Farmer Brown's yard. Peter didn't dare go over there for already it was broad daylight. But he didn't have to, for the sweet singer flew over in the Old Orchard and alighted just over Peter's head. "Hello, Peter!" he cried.

"Hello, Linnet!" cried Peter. "I was wondering who it could be who was singing like that. I ought to have known, but you see it is so long since I've heard you sing that I couldn't remember your song. I'm so glad you came over here for I'm just dying to talk to somebody."

"Hello, Linnet!" Cried Peter.

Linnet the Purple Finch, for this is who it was, laughed right out. "I see you're still the same old Peter," said he. "I suppose you're just as full of curiosity as ever, and just as full of questions. Well, here I am, so what shall we talk about"

"You," replied Peter promptly. "Lately I've found out so many surprising things about my feathered friends that I want to know more. I'm trying to get it straight in my head who is related to who, and I've found out some things which have begun to make me feel that I know very little about my feathered neighbors. It's getting so that I don't even dare guess who a person's relatives are. If you please, Linnet, what family do you belong to?"

Linnet flew down a little nearer to Peter. "Look me over, Peter," said he with twinkling eyes. "Look me over and see if you can't tell for yourself."

Peter stared solemnly at Linnet. He saw a bird of sparrow size whose entire body was a rose red, brightest on the head, darkest on the back, and palest on the breast. Underneath he was whitish. His wings and tail were brownish, the outer parts of the feathers edged with rose red. His bill was short and stout. Before Peter could reply, Mrs. Linnet appeared. There wasn't so much as a touch of that beautiful rose red about her. Her grayish brown back was streaked with black. Her white breast and sides were spotted with streaks of brown. Had she not been with Linnet, Peter certainly would have taken her for a sparrow. She looked so much like one that he ventured to say, "I guess you belong to the Sparrow family."

"That's pretty close, Peter, that's pretty close," declared Linnet. "We belong to the Finch branch of the family, which makes the Sparrows own cousins, but they never can mistake me. There is nobody else my size with a rose red coat like mine. Hello! Here comes Cousin Chicoree."

©, T. W. Burgess.—WNU Service.

Mother's Cook Book

FAVORITE RECIPES

THE following recipes have been chosen from prize dishes or cherished recipes:

A Prize Salad.

Take one pint of shredded cabbage, one can of white cherries, one can of sliced pineapple, one pound of blanched almonds, one-half pound of fresh marshmallows and one pint of whipped cream. Cut the cherries into halves. Dice the pineapple, shred the almonds, quarter the marshmallows and mix all together with the whipped cream with a few tablespoons of any good salad dressing.

Almond Soup.

Blanch one-fourth of a pound of almonds by dropping them into boiling water and after ten minutes drain and add cold water to cover. Put the almonds through a food chopper. Mix with two hard cooked egg yolks and add a quart of beef or chicken stock. Make a paste of a teaspoon of flour mixed with a little cold water and add to the broth; cook slowly, season with salt and pepper and add one cup of cream. Serve very hot. Top with whipped cream and sprinkle over it a few shredded almonds.

Prune Dressing.

Take two cups of cooked prunes, one-half cup of cooked rice, using the prune juice in which to cook the rice. Add six large chestnuts blanched and chopped, butter, salt and pepper to season. Mix well and stuff the fowl.

Piquant Cocktail Sauce.

Take four tablespoons each of tomato catsup and white grape juice, one tablespoon each of lemon and orange juice, one-fourth teaspoon of cinnamon and one-eighth teaspoon each of salt, paprika, sugar and cloves.

Eggnogg.

Separate the egg white and yolk and beat both well, mix and add one pint of hot milk, beating well. Flavor as desired.

©, Western Newspaper Union.

Do YOU Know—

That an average-size tree with a spread of 50 feet of foliage under normal conditions throws off five barrels of water a day in the form of vapor. This is attracted to the clouds and returns to the earth as rain.

©, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
WNU Service

QUESTION BOX
By ED WYNN . . . The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I know you are an actor and a student of the theater. Can you tell me when the first theatrical entertainment took place and where?

Yours truly,
IMA THESPIAN.

Answer: The first theatrical entertainment was in the Garden of Eden when Eve appeared for Adam's benefit.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am a schoolgirl and my English teacher wants me to write a sentence with the word "and" five times in succession, and still write it sensibly. Can you help me out?

Yours truly,
I. TALLIAN.

Answer: That is very simple. Say you were having a sign painter paint a sign which should read "Silks and Satins" and say the sign painter connected the whole thing like this: "SILKSANDSATINS" and you wanted him to paint it over so it would be right. You would say to him: Paint this sign over and be sure to leave a space between "silks" and "and" and "and" and "satins."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have just arrived in America from my home in Ireland. I always heard this was the land of opportunity. In fact, since childhood I have heard you can pick gold up in the streets in this country. When I got off the boat yesterday I saw something shining on the ground. I picked it up and, sure enough, it was a five-dollar gold piece. I was going to put it in my pocket when I noticed a man holding his hat in his hand and a sign on him read: "Please help the blind"—so I dropped the five-dollar gold piece in his hat. Did I do right?

Truly yours,
M. E. GRANT.

Answer: You did the right thing giving the gold piece to the blind man, because you can see to pick them up.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I live in the country and am twelve years of age. My boy chum of the past four years doesn't play with me any more. We had a fight. He says that my father went over to his father's home and stole the "gate" from in front of his father's house. If this is true why doesn't his father say something to my father for taking his father's "gate."

Truly yours,
IGO BAREFOOT.

Answer: The reason his father doesn't say anything to your father for taking his father's "gate" is that his father is afraid that your father might take "offense" (a fence).

©, the Associated Newspapers
WNU Service.

WITTY KITTY
By NINA WILCOX PUTNAM

The girl chum says the people who read late in bed can never hope to be popular with burglars.

WNU Service.

PAPA KNOWS—

"Pop, what is boredom?"
"Dog under stove."

©, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Muscle Man Learns to Be an Actor

MUSCLE MAN, young son of Chief Loud Voice of the Tuscaroras, is here seen rehearsing the part he is to play in the pageant drama of Old Fort Niagara, the great historical presentation which is to be one feature of the Four-Nation celebration at Niagara, September 3 to 6. Muscle Man is one of 500 Indians in the pageant drama's full-costumed cast of 3,000.

PETUNIAS
By ANNE CAMPBELL

THE fragrance of petunias
Drifts on the morning air.
They summon me in memory
To lovely gardens where
Grandmother grew in days gone by
Those sweet old-fashioned blooms.
Their presence brings remembered springs
And quiet, homelike rooms.

The humming birds came every year
To Grandmother's bright flowers.
The brown bees zoomed in the perfumed
Enchantingly quaint bowers.
Moss roses graced a hollowed log.
A locust tree flung high
Glamorous boughs against the house.
White clouds sailed in the sky.

I never see petunias
Without a thought of home.
Their spicy flowers recall the hours
I wandered (happy gnome!)
Down paths I would be glad to see
Bathed in the present's glow.
On happy feet I'd run to meet
The friends I used to know!

Copyright.—WNU Service.

Silk Crepe Turban

Anne Nagel chooses a smart turban of navy silk crepe for wear with her sheer navy afternoon frock. The chic of this softly draped turban is enhanced by a nose veil which lends fascination to the eyes. The veil may also be worn turned back, forming a lacy frame for the face.

DON'T OVERLOOK THE FINE PRINT IN THE CONTRACT

That few people, unversed in law and business, ever read all the text of a document which they sign and in exchange for which they pay money, has become a commonplace. They sign "on the dotted line" usually without knowing exactly what they are accepting. In many cases the most vital clauses of these documents are in fine print, apparently immaterial by virtue of the comparative insignificance of their typography. It has been often said that shrewd salesmanship in financial transactions consists in keeping the customer from fully understanding all the stipulations and conditions of the instrument to which he subscribes.

A case has just come to light in a hearing in New York before a commissioner relative to certain mortgage certificates which contained a clause providing for an eighteen months' moratorium on interest. The officer of the corporation whose job it was to "get the money" was asked by counsel for the commissioner if in the course of the intensive selling campaign he had told his customers about this clause. The officer replied: "We didn't bring it up if they didn't ask." The counsel asked: "How could they ask about it if they didn't know it was there?" The witness replied: "We didn't throw it in their faces, but it's on the certificate." The counsel asked the witness if he could find the clause and read it, whereupon the officer of the company took the document, bent close to it, and then moved over to hold it under a lamp. With difficulty he found the clause, and read it haltingly with his eyes close to the paper.

Even when restrictive stipulations are printed in such documents in type of sufficient size to permit them to be read easily they are couched in such complicated terms that the average layman investor or purchaser cannot understand them. It would seem as though they were framed with the definite purpose of deception. At any rate, the fact stands that in many instances the vital portions of the contract which the buyer signs are obscure, either physically or textually or both. This is something that requires a "new deal" for the public protection. A code of practice in financial transactions of all kinds, based upon the principle of "the seller beware," rather than the buyer, is needed for the financial health of the people of this country.—Washington Star.

Increase in Marriages

An increase in the number of marriages during 1933 has been reported by the statistical bureau of a leading life insurance company. Re-employment, larger earnings, and better prospects have given young men and women confidence in their ability to establish homes.

The statistical bureau based its conclusions on preliminary figures from officials of 21 states. There was a 4.3 per cent increase in the number of marriages in 1933 over the preceding year. The figure is low in comparison with normal years, but presents a strong contrast to what happened between 1929 and 1932, when the marriage rate dropped a total of 22.4 per cent.—Literary Digest.

THE EASY WAY TO IRON!
KEEP COOL
SAVE TIME
SAVE WORK
SAVE MONEY
with the
Coleman SELF HEATING Iron

THIS Coleman Self-Heating Iron will save you more time and work than a $100.00 washing machine! It will save your strength . . . help you do better ironing easier and quicker at less cost.

Instant Lighting . . . no heating with matches or torch . . . no waiting. The evenly-heated double pointed base irons garments with fewer strokes. Large glass-smooth base slides easier. Ironing time is reduced one-third. Heats itself . . . use it anywhere. Economical, too . . . costs only ½¢ an hour to operate. See your hardware or housefurnishing dealer. If local dealer doesn't handle, write us.

THE COLEMAN LAMP AND STOVE CO.
Dept. WU506, Wichita, Kans.; Chicago, Ill.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Toronto, Ontario, Canada (4306)

BOX OF RARE CACTI
postpaid anywhere, $1.00. Send them East or grow in house or garden. Box 6, Beverly Hills, Calif.

WOMEN, BECOME INDEPENDENT. Start an interesting and profitable business of your own. No canvassing. Send 10c (coin) for details. E. M. Wistrom, Kasota, Minn.

From Cuba. 98c brings a big package of delicious sweets assorted, prepaid. Two $1.80. P. M. O. MR. S. MOLINA, Rosa 6, Cerro, Havana, Cuba.

DOLLARS FOR YOU
One hundred money making ideas. Send only fifty cents. Better Business Builder, 1735 West Vernon Ave., Los Angeles, Cal.

ENCLOSE STAMPED, ADDRESSED LETTER and same will be remailed for 25c. EINAR JORGENSEN, JAMESBURG, N. J.

We Buy Certain LINCOLN and INDIAN HEAD PENNIES. Will pay from $2.10 to $53 for those wanted. Send 10c for pocket size list. CAPITOL COIN CO., BOX 786, MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN.

Smooth Clear Skin
Don't endure pimples and blotches. Allay them quickly with pure Resinol Soap and safe, efficacious
Resinol

The Ocean Beach News

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY AT
1922 BACON STREET, OCEAN BEACH, CALIFORNIA

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
One year, in advance $2.00 Six months, in advance $1.00

AN INDEPENDENT PAPER

Entered as second-class matter December 1, 1922, at the post office at Ocean Beach,San Diego,Cal.,under the Act of March 3, 1897.

H. H. HARTVIGSEN.....Editor and Publisher

Legalized as an Official San Diego City and County Newspaper
Promoting the Progress of the Beach Sections of San Diego and the Entire Point Loma Peninsula.

ADVERTISING RATES

CLASSIFIED ADS—Ten cents per line of eight point type for the first insertion and five cents per line each subsequent insertion.
LOCAL READERS—Fifteen cents a line for the first insertion and ten cents per line each subsequent insertion.
DISPLAY ADVERTISING—Rates upon application.
Ad copy should be in the office by Wednesday noon.
Classified, transient and political ads PAYABLE IN ADVANCE

LOCAL GOVERNMENT WOULD BE MORE EFFICIENT

During the past few weeks there has been an undercurrent of thought and conversation as to whether it would not be well for Ocean Beach community to file petitions for withdrawal from the city of San Diego. With this thought in mind several citizens have gone over the tax rolls and found the assessed value of real estate and secured property to be $1,608,845. The total tax paid on this last year was $104,402.50. These amounts do not take into consideration the spring and early payment of personal property taxes to the assessor. The suggestion is made, for the reason, that outlying districts like ours are denied the privilege of improvement and necessary upkeep of streets, beaches, parking areas and in general are given very little consideration, except during election time of city councilmen. Petitions which thousands of citizens have signed and committees of twenty to thirty people have been entirely ignored, when the endeavored to be heard. While it is deemed an honor to belong to the city of San Diego nevertheless if we had our own local administration there is no doubt but what we should have more efficient government and someone to look after local needs.

• • • •

BACK TO BOOKS

BEHOLD, school days are here again! What an army of wide-awake children are in line to keep step with the signal bell! These happy faces, proud and erect bodies are the flower of the land, training to step into the responsibility to be vacated by their seniors.School and education is the magic power that is behind government and civilization. Let us give a glad hand to teacher and scholar alike and not only the children but the older pupils and students who will find this year full of hard study and much devotion to books of learning.

As the tomorrow of this country will be in the hands of the youth of today it is interesting to see the attitude of youth as it looks forward to coming responsibilities. Any pupil who does not improve the opportunity for getting an education, will, later in life, face deep humiliation and shame for himself, with regret and loss in the race of life. For boys who stop school with the grammar grades there is just about one chance in twenty thousand of reaching distinction in any line. Statistics give the average maximum yearly income of the untrained man, $1200, but the high school graduate is $2200 and the college graduate, $6000.

Education, that torch of knowledge, pays great dividends, socially, in business and officially. It is missing the mark in life to fail in an education. American universities, all told, have some 7720 students from 110 different nations. Japan seems to be the most alert to American ideas and leads the cap-an-gown procession from abroad with 1526 students; China is next in line with 1101; Canada sends down 922; the Philippine Islands supply 515, and Germany is represented by 311.

International relations ought to be greatly helped by these youngsters being trained in the wisdom and ways of Uncle Sam. Each of these students may be sent as a unit in the great Navy of Friendship which Uncle Sam has an opportunity to build up, and eventually bring peace to the world.

Teacher, you can make of your material almost what you please. You can make war or peace, not the diplomats. Treaties are not made in Paris, but in the schoolroom!

• • • •

PURIFYING POLITICS

Now, that the candidates are named for the fall election ballot in November, it behooves every voter to beware of the unscrupulous, the chair-warmers and the traitors. It may be that a lot of the ignominious have "got by" and found a place on the ballot. The duty of a good citizen is to find out in time and use his political strength and influence against such as these. Such a candidate is looking for a "soft job" and the salary that goes with it. He disregards responsibility of office by ignoring his covenant with the people who put him in power.

Only men of strict integrity and honesty, who will obey the dictates of conscience can be eligible to serve under our great constitution; and any man who was not willing to go down to certain political defeat in order to preserve his name and honor is only unworthy of public trust, but he is a traitor to his country. Any truthful candidate elected to office will recognize that a public office was never intended to be a paying business—it is a public trust.

Unless we win the coming election by casting out the defamers of government, there will be little reform or change in government. America is facing a crisis, says the Civic Research League of America, which is testing her spirit, resources, institutions, government and world leadership. If she is to survive and succeed, capable, honest men must be elected to offices throughout the land, and the stirling intergrity and Christian principles of our forefathers must be re-established in society, business and politics.

• • • •

NATIONAL HOUSING PLAN BELIEVED STIMULATOR.

President Roosevelt is holding down his executive job with great endurance. Few of our former presidents ever survived with a better stroke of the invincible. The National Housing Plan is the latest concept in carrying on for further beneficial use. It makes it possible for home owners to borrow from the banks for remodeling or repairing of their property, the necessary funds at the rate of $5 per year on each $100 borrowed. The money must be paid back within 3 years unless other arrangements are made with the bank or building organizations and the payments to be annually must not exceed one-fifth of the borrower's annual income. Thousands are getting in line to take advantage of the movement.

• • • •

We Print Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business and Calling Cards, friendly

A spirit of genuine friendliness pervades the Bank of America organization. This institution is California's democratic, and most widely patronized bank. Every officer is readily accessible—always ready and willing to render any service that squares with sound banking practice.

Bank of America—friendly, helpful, progressive.

RAYMOND PAIGE and his GREATER ORCHESTRA
"TREASURES OF TIME"
Every Wednesday, 8 p. m., Columbia-Don Lee System

BANK of AMERICA
NATIONAL TRUST & SAVINGS ASSOCIATION
MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

Before Buying See Our New Models!
Gas Circulator Heaters
Coal and Wood Stove Circulators
Perfection Oil Heaters
RICHLEY'S
Sherwin-Williams Paint Headquarters
1926 Bacon St. Ocean Beach Telephone 0020

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY: POINT LOMA

Interesting matters concerning ancient civilizations and their remaining relics were discusser by Mrs. Grace Knoche, who in delivering a lecture on "What have the Ancients to Offer?" was supported by Miss Judith Tyberg, Professor C. J. Ryan and Geoffrey Barborka; last Sunday afternoon at the Theosophical headquarters on Point Loma.

"The Secret Doctrine" will be the subject of the Forum-Lecture by Dr. Henry T. Edge to be delivered at 3 o'clock at the Theosophical headquarters on Sunday afternoon, September 16. Dr. Emma Wilcox, Mrs. Guy Ponsonby and Prof. Plummer will assist the speaker in answering questions. All are welcome.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

A meeting will be held in the Pt. Loma high school cafeteria Thursday 3 p. m. for the Gir. Scouts of Pt. Loma troop 56. For registration see Mrs. Beatrice L. Fish, scout leader. BV-0609-J.

Brownie Notes

Girls from seven to nine years of age will meet in the Methodist church scout hut, Tuesday 18, 3:15 p. m. For registration see Mrs. Beatrice L. Fish, brown owl, BV-0609-J.

Ocean Beach CLEANERS
1930 Bacon Street
Phone Bayview 0030
WE CALL FOR AND DELIVER
GIVE US A TRIAL

ADAMS' BARBER SHOP
1927 Bacon Street
NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART
"It Pays To Look Well"

HE SLEEPETH

Lend not thyself
To false belief,
Man dieth not
So spare thy grief.
God gives him rest
From earthly care,
But wakes him to
A beatitude most rare,
Life Eternal.

There is no death
To blast our hope,
Of things Supernal.
Each must earn
That crown eternal,
E'en tho life's duties
Seemeth hard to bear,
Our souls must measure
Up, its fullest share.

—Betty Jordan

TRIBUTE TO VENUS BEFORE SUNRISE

On the dark blue velvet of the field of night the Creator had scattered with a lavish hand a profusion of shimmering gems. One transcended all the others in splendor. Its deathless white brilliancy dominated the sky. So near it seemed to be that I felt I could touch it if I but stretched forth my hand. O, matchless star! O, beautiful Venus! Your radiant light shines for rich and poor alike. And because of your undying loveliness the sordidness and ugliness of this day shall not be remembered.—Alan E. Jorgensen.

SPECIAL!
WEDNESDAYS & THURSDAYS
SHAMPOO, DRY FINGER WAVE and GLO RINZ..... 50c
LAVENDOIL PERMANENT WAVE.... 2.95
Bonnie Bee Beauty Shoppe
BV 0801-J 4999 Voltaire

Go To Church Sunday

SIXTH CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
1929 Cable street, San Diego, Calif.
Services are held as follows:
Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.
Sunday school 9:30 a. m.
Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.
Reading room is open Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., except holidays.

TRINITY EPISCOPAL CHURCH
Church Services at Trinity Mission Episcopal church, corner of Brighton and Sunset Cliffs Blvd.
Rev. J. B. Osborn vicar in charge
Holy Communion at 11 o'clock first Sunday in the month.
Early Celebration 8 a. m.
Church School 9:30
Morning Prayer 11 a. m.

POINT LOMA M. E. CHURCH
Cor. Sunset Cliffs Blvd. and Saratoga
Rev. James Hughes, Minister.
Church school, 9:45 a. m.
Morning worship, 11 a. m.
Young People's meeting, 7 p. m.
Wednesday Fellowship Hour 7:30 p. m.
Thurs., 7:30 p. m., choir rehearsal.
Girl Scouts, Thursday at 4 p. m.
Boy Scouts, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.
Music by the Choir.
Brownies, Wednesday at 3:10 p.m

CATHOLIC
Sacred Heart Church—Ocean Beach, at Sunset Cliffs Blvd. and Saratoga.
Sunday Masses at 7, 9 and 12.
Week day Mass at 7:30.
Pastor, P. A. Connolly.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF OCEAN BEACH
Santa Monica-Sunset Cliffs Blvd.
Rev. W. S. Dunn, Pastor
Bible school, 9:45 a. m.
Morning hour of worship, 11 a. m.
Music by the choir.
Tuesday, 10 a. m., Sewing Circle.
Wed.,7:15 p.m, Business Girls club
Wed., 7:30 p. m. Prayer meeting.
Thurs., 7 p. m. Choir Rehearsal.
Fri., 7:15 p. m. Boy Scouts.
You are cordially invited to the services of this church.

Elim Pentecostal Tabernacle
Corner Cape May and Ebers
Mary B. Lynas, Evangelist
Sunday school, 9:45 a. m.
Morning worship, 11 a. m.
Evening worship, 7:30 p. m.
Thurs., Students' Night, 7:30 p. m.
Friday 7:30 p.m. Evangelistic ser.
A hearty welcome awaits you.

GIANT 317 lb WRESTLER AT COLISEUM TONIGHT

Since Man Mountain Dean crushed George Zaharias into unconsciousness and sent him to the hospital from their effects of their meeting in Los Angeles, wrestling fans and curiosity seekers have stormed the Coliseum with requests to bring the 317 pound giant here for action. Friday nite they will have their wishes fulfilled when the red headed Irishman, Pat O'Shocker, will attempt to do what no other man has been able to do, score a victory over the Georgia Giant. Tickets are selling rapidly for the match and another of those capacity houses is predicted for San Diego's big arena. Another match that fans are craving is a meeting between Sammy Stein and Jumping Joe Savoldi in a rematch. Stein was outlucked in their prevoius meeting and wants another chance at Savoldi while the Italian figures that one victory is better than none and is holding out for a sizeable guarantee. It will be up to Linn Platner to whittle Joe down considerable or the match will be impossible for San Diego.

Mission Beach Personals

(Beth V. Paynter, correspondent)
(Tel. Pacific Beach 425 or 433)

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Heintze of Los Angeles, are at 808 San Rafael for a short visit.

* * * * * *

H. G. Carlin and family of Anaheim are spending a few days at 3803 Ocean front walk.

* * * * * *

Mrs. Kate H. Dewing and family of Los Angeles, are at 808 San Rafael until sometime in October.

* * * * * *

Mrs. R. Kelleher and mother from San Diego, are at 3868½ Strandway in one of the Lowerson apartments.

* * * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Myers of San Diego, spent a few days in one of the Haag cottages on Ocean front walk.

* * * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Blackstock and family have removed to 3816 Bayside walk, where they will reside indefinitely.

* * * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Foreman and family, of Phoenix, who have spent the summer here, have returned to their home.

* * * * * *

The Mission Beach Woman's club will hold the first meeting this season at the club rooms on Friday afternoon, September 14, at 3 o'clock.

* * * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Schultze, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Stewart, in their mountain home at Hipass near Jacumba, where they made their home nineteen years ago.

* * * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Haag and daughter, Miss Catharine, who have been attending the Fair at Chicago, are expected home at once. Miss Catharine is returning to Mills college.

* * * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ensor, of Mission Beach, who have leased a cabin at beautiful Las Terrinitas, entertained a party of friends over the week end. The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Pappert, Mr. and Mrs. Clickner of Mission Beach; Mr. and Mrs. L. Black of San Diego, and Edgar Clickener of Los Angeles.

* * * * * *

The Mission Beach Business and Booster club announce a general meeting at the Blue Lantern on September 18, at 8 o'clock, to discuss a program of advertising, considering suggestions that will help every one. All are asked to attend. Come and help put over a progressive campaign that will benefit everyone. We hope to get ideas and suggestions that will help promote our endeavor to create building activity, a clean beach, all year round rentals and a show place for the exposition visitors. We also thank those who helped make our dance a success.

Cutting the Melon

IF IT'S TO RENT A SMALL COTTAGE FOR YOUR ANNUAL VACATION, OR IF IT'S TO GIVE YOUR FAMILY A PRESENT OF A PERMANENT BEACH HOME. YOU WILL FIND CAREFUL PERSONAL ATTENTION GIVEN YOUR NEEDS BY

The Van Dorston - Paynter Realty Co.
3812 Mission Blvd.,—Mission Beach
20 Minutes to 3rd and Broadway, San Diego.

FURNISHED COTTAGES WITHIN ONE BLOCK OF OCEAN OR BAY SHORE, FROM $15 MONTH

A FEW, UNUSUAL, OUTSTANDING VALUES FOR SALE! ALSO EXCHANGES.

WRITE US FOR INFORMATION

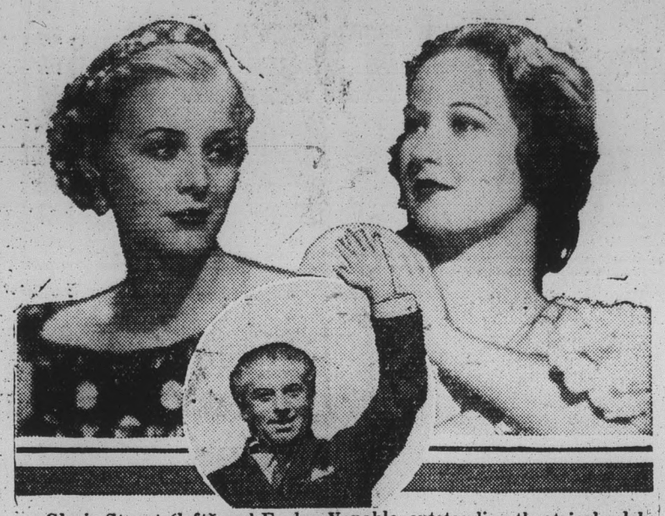
HILLTOPS CLEAR

By EMILIE LORING

● A story of love and of adventure, breath-taking and thrilling, with the crisp and fragrant Maine woods for a setting. This delightful tale of a girl who finally found happiness in a world from which she had run away is to be published serially in these columns. You will enjoy it from beginning to end.

Starts Next Week-September 21

FAMOUS STAGE STARS IN REINHARDT PLAY



Gloria Stuart (left) and Evelyn Venable, outstanding theatrical celebrities prior to motion picture engagements, selected by Max Reinhardt (center) to portray Hermia and Helena in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" opening at Hollywood Bowl on Monday, September 17.

CAST FILLED BY REINHARDT

When Max Reinhardt's magnificent production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," opens in Hollywood Bowl Monday, September 17, for a series of five performances, audiences for the first time in the history of the festival will see motion picture stars in the leading roles.

Reinhardt personally chose these stars, after giving consideration to scores of film notables who were eager for an opportunity to appear under his direction. He was guided in his selection not only by their physical qualifications for the various roles, but also by their previous experience on the stage.

Two of the most famous and talented of these are stately, blonde Gloria Stuart, of Universal pictures, and petite, brunette Evelyn Venable of Paramount. They will play the roles of Hermia and Helena.

Miss Venable made her stage debut as a Shakespearian actress and came to Los Angeles two years ago as leading woman in the Shakespearian company of the noted Walter Hampden. Screen executives, who saw her work, signed her at once for pictures.

Miss Stuart, a native daughter, first appeared on the stage in Berkeley, then gained wide experience in various theatres throughout the land and was finally signed for the films when she appeared at the Pasadena Community Playhouse.

Other famous screen players also cast by Reinhardt include John Lodge, William Farnum, William Henry, George Walcott, Lief Erickson, Paul Nicholson, Otis Harlan, Jacqueline de Wit, Mickey Rooney and Frank Reicher.

Tickets for the "Dream," a presentation of the California Festival association, may be obtained by mail order to the Southern California Music Company, 737 South Hill street, Los Angeles.

your LIGHT BILL

Once, not so many years ago, your "light" bill paid for lighting and lighting alone, but now for approximately the same figure in dollars and cents you get your lighting PLUS the current that runs . . .

Your radio
refrigerator
electric toaster
waffle iron washing machine
vacuum cleaner heating pads spot heaters
etc. etc. etc.

With all these added conveniences, your "light" bill remains about the same . . . because consistent rate reductions throughout the years have kept pace with added uses. Most homes now use much more electricity but the total cost parallels that of earlier days when your electric bill was only a "light" bill.

SAN DIEGO CONSOLIDATED GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

BURNHAM APPRECIATIVE FOR LARGE VOTE RECEIVED

Winnng the Republican nomination by an overwhelming majority, Congressman George Burnham has written a letter of appreciation to the readers of this paper. Congressman Burnham's letter follows:

"If it were possible, I would like to take all of my loyal supporters by the hands, thank them personally for their interest in my campaign, and express my appreciation for their friendship and loyalty. On account of my official duties as your representative in Congress, I had very little time to devote to the primaries. However, I shall cover the entire district thoroughly before the general election in November.

"I am grateful, also, and duly appreciative of the generous support given me by the press of both San Diego and Imperial counties. To my opponents I extend my hearty good will and friendship. If I am successful in the general election I shall continue to render every service possible to all the people, regardless of party affiliations or differences of opinion."

Congressman Burnham received a large majority in both San Diego and Imperial counties, his vote being three to one over that cast for his opponent.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from Philippians: "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon are the verses from I John: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "The admission that there can be material substance requires another admission,—namely, that Spirit is not infinite and that matter is self-creative, self-existent, and eternal. From this it would follow that there are two eternal causes, warring forever with each other; and yet we say that Spirit is supreme and all-presence."

THE BLACK CAT NOW SHOWING AT ORPHEUM

Thrills, chills and breath-taking action is the screen fare offered at the Orpheum theatre. For patrons who like daring, thrilling and sensational films "The Black Cat" is made to order. Featuring those two masters of make-up, Karloff and Bela Lugosi the Universal picture "The Black Cat" is said to out do both "Daracula" and "Frankenstein." The action in the picture starts when Peter and Joan Alison, newlyweds, are traveling by train on their honeymoon to a European resort. A sombre and sinister looking stranger boards the train. It seems that a mistake has been made. This man has purchased space in their compartment. Peter is polite and invites the stranger to share their rooms. From then on this young couple is drawn into a sinister and horrible plot which will leave the audience breathless.

Several short subjects including a two reel comedy, cartoon and travel picture will round out the screen show.

To balance this excellent screen program, Ted Mack will present his band and several topline acts of vaudeville. Heading the stage bill will be "Ward-Pinkey and Terry" in a comedy act, followed by the "Alexander Twins"; Richard Wally" the human pool table and the "Harlam Steppers." Mack will present several new and popular musical numbers and specialties by members of the Orpheum band.

FOR RENT SIGNS—5c and 10c at The Ocean Beach News.

Try Our Full Milk Bread Sliced or Unsliced

O. B. Bakery

Corner Newport & Bacon Sts.
Phone Bayview 0882

PTA OF OCEAN BEACH HOLD FIRST MEETING

Board members of the Ocean Beach Parent Teachers association met Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. J. W. McCausland, 4595 Saratoga avenue, to make plans for activities for the coming year.

Many new comers to Ocean Beach who will be sending their children to Ocean Beach school will want to become acquainted. A social hour, during which refreshments will be served, following the Wednesday, September 19th, meeting at 2 p. m. in the Point Loma Methodist church ocers you an opportunity to meet the other parents whose children will know your children.

Mrs. Fred Bethard, 1st vice president of 9th Dist. will speak on "The Value of the PTA to your child." Music will be furnished by Mrs. Miriam Freeze, music chairman.

The Newsette, our school's invitation to you, will be sent home by the children, each month reminding you of our meetings.

Until our new building is completed and the auditorium is ready for use, meetings will be held in convenient locations near the school, time and place will be given in notices in the Ocean Beach News and in our Newsette.

New PTA members and all interested will receive a friendly welcome.

GENERATES ELECTRICITY AT PRACTICALLY NO COST

To furnish his lofty fire lookout station with electricity for three 21-candlepower automobile lights used for night reading and the operation of a battery type radio set, L. B. Salm, forest service lookout observer on Strawberry peak in the San Bernardino National forest, has invented a power plant consisting of an 8-foot airplane propeller mounted on ball bearings and connected to an automoblie generator thru a "V" belt with a 10 to 1 ratio. The output of this plant, which is stored in 6-volt batteries to assure a constant supply of electricity, is 2 amperes with an 8 mile wind, and 18 amperes with a 30-mile wind. The total cost of the plant was $15.

Constant advertising is a guarantee of quality, and quality builds up a reputation for honesty.

RICHFIELD Gasoline and Oils

Sunshine Service Stat'n

(Glen Jones, Prop.)

1946 BACON STREET

WARREN - WALKER SCHOOL

After pleasant summer vacations, the students of the Warren-Walker school resumed their studies last Tuesday at the new location in Sunset Cliffs, 4867 Santa Cruz Ave.

Each student introduced himself to the group and told about some interesting event experienced during vacation.

Parkie Burroughs spent the summer in Seattle with his grandmother. Betty Jane Bryan vacationed and studied in Hollywood. Peter and Judy Pinney with their mother and grandmother traveled to Lake Arrowhead for a part of the summer. Patricia, Priscilla, William and John Welch spent an enjoyable summer at the beach and have returned ready for work. Jean and Billy Reynolds have returned to the United States after a number of years spent in Guam. Arnold Gladlen and Jean Pape are both transfers from San Diego schools. Ruth Doggett, formerly of Pacific Beach and now residing in San Diego and Billy Loftus have returned. Beverly Parks, Virgil Watters and Hilary Blake of Ocean Beach have been enrolled in school. Marjorie Stewart of Pacific Beach, Jimmy Dee of Sunset Cliffs, Anna Helene Finn of Loma Portal, Judy Pinney of San Diego, and Priscilla Welch embarked on their educational career.

OCEAN BEACH THEOSOPHICAL CLUB

The G. de Purucker lodge No. 37 meets Friday, September 14, 7:30 p. m. at 4624 Granger St. This is a closed meeting. Visiting members are welcome.

The Lotus circle for children will be held Sunday, September 16, 10:30 a. m., at 4624 Granger St. An invitation is extended to all children more than four years of age to attend.

That the housewife who has an eye for economy reads the ads.

She appreciates the high quality of the merchandise that is advertised.

Silver Gate Dairy

NORTH SAN DIEGO

P. O. Box 25 Hilcrest 1731

Delivered to your Door Twice Daily

Grade A Raw Milk
Grade A Pasteurized Milk
Table Cream
Whipping Cream
Churned or Cultured Buttermilk
Cottage Cheese

Ocean Beach Business Directory

AGNES G. ELLS, 4845 Muir Ave. R.E., Rentals, Notary, Ins.

TONY'S DeLOMA CONFECTIONARY, 5026 Newport Ave.
Beer and Wines on tap. Candy, Cigars, Tobaccos and Lunches

GUS' PLACE LUNCHES, BEER ON DRAUGHT CIGARS, TOBACCOS, ICE CREAM 5049 Newport Ave.

Baybrige Cafe West Point Loma Boulevard
TRY OUR FAMOUS SANDWICHES AND STEAKS.

Central Cleaners, Bayvw 0122, 4959 Voltaire
Palmer Brothers, Props., Send us your most delicate garments. We Call and Deliver. Suits Pressed While You Wait.

Cora Brooks Beauty Shop BV 0193
5005 Newport Avenue, Expert Hair Shaping, Dyeing, Permanents

COOPER Pharmacy 4904 Voltaire--BV 0880
(Successor to Griswold Pharmacy)
Bargains in Drug Sundries, Beach Goods, Toilet Articles, Fountain

Lewis B. Peterson, Watchmaker and Jeweler
5041 Newport Avenue—Full line of Good Quality Merchandise.

Main Pool Hall, 5065 Newport Ave.
Bert Shaffer, Proprietor—Cigars Tobaccos and Soft Drinks.

Ocean Beach Arrow Transfer, BV 0136
Wood and Coal, Pianos for Rent at $2 mo. and up. Gene Henderson
Storage, Daily Trips to San Diego. 1877 Bacon Street

Ocean Beach Hdwe Co. 5008 Newport Ave
Hardware, Paints, Glassware, Fishing Tackle. Bayview 0049

Ocean Beach Plumbing Co. BV. 0152
Chas. H. Peltcher, 14 years in Ocean Beach 1869 Cable St.

O. W. JORDAN, Plumbing and Heating BV 0136
Water Heaters and Repair Work. 1877 Bacon Street

Strand Radio Co. Free Service Calls BV 0414
Radios, Refrigerators, Washing Machines 4985 Newport Ave

The "Wright" Place 1884 Bacon Street
USED FURNITURE, Etc. — A Friendly Place to Trade.

OUTLAWS of EDEN

. . . By Peter B. Kyne . . .

WNU Service.

Copyright, by Peter B. Kyne.

CHAPTER XIII—Continued

—17—

Babson got out his life insurance policies and read their provisions carefully. He knew there was a clause in them which nullified them if the insured committed suicide, while sane or insane, within a certain period following the issuance of the policy. Yes, that period had now passed. He had two hundred thousand dollars' worth of life insurance in force, and his wife was the beneficiary. His creditors could not levy on that. So he wrote his wife a letter, instructing her how to invest the insurance money safely to yield six per cent, enclosed this note in an envelope and returned it to the tin box marked "S. B.—Personal." This box he placed in the bank vault where it would be found readily; then he left a note for Mr. Rookby, got in his car and drove away up country . . .

Two weeks later Rube Tenney found his body floating beside the headgate at Lake Babson. A gentle wind was blowing across the lake and Mr. Babson's body was bumping the headgate gently and persistently, as if he still insisted it be opened.

CHAPTER XIV

—

When Silas Babson failed to come home for dinner the night the Bank of Valley Center closed forever, his wife waited until eight o'clock and then telephoned Henry Rookby. Upon Mr. Rookby immediately fell a suspicion that something tragic impended. He found Babson's tin box unlocked, so he opened it and found Babson's letter to his wife in the envelope with the life insurance policies.

Shaking slightly with apprehension, Mr. Rookby went into his cage and found there an envelope addressed to to him. It was from Babson and read:

"Dear Henry: I can't stand it. If I live my wife and children will be paupers and I'll be the most hated man in this county. I could never beat back—and I'm too old to try. And I'm too tired. Look for me in Lake Babson. Good-by and good luck. S. B."

So Mr. Rookby telephoned the superintendent of state banks at the capitol to send somebody up to take charge of the Bank of Valley Center. Then he pasted a notice on the window, announcing the closing of the bank.

The payment of the semi-annual interest had been due on July 1. Alas! The funds of the district had been deposited in the Bank of Valley Center, and all but 30 per cent of them had been lost in the collapse of the bank; so the district, not knowing what the holders of its bonds purposed doing, defaulted on the interest payment.

On July 2 the trustee for the bondholders notified the district that unless payment of the defaulted interest was made by August 1 legal action would be taken to foreclose the deed of trust given to secure the bonds.

The directors of the district held a meeting. They recalled Nate Tichenor's threat to buy the bonds from the original purchasers. Was he scheming to delude the farmers of Forlorn Valley into growing more and more alfalfa and planting trees, thus enriching his land to a point where his threatened foreclosure would make the disaster all the greater?

The secretary was instructed to write to Tichenor's attorney and ask him for a frank exposition of Nate Tichenor's intentions. Back came a prompt reply to the effect that Tichenor's intentions were unknown to his attorney; that Tichenor was in Europe.

A mass meeting was held, but while there was much talk there was no concerted action; since nobody knew what to do, nothing was done, and on the first day of August the interest payment was still in default. On the second day of August suit was filed by the trustee to foreclose the deed of trust, and Forlorn Valley, realizing that all was over, sat dumbly and patiently awaiting the end.

The farmers could do nothing else. They had no place to go, so they waited to be dispossessed formally by the sheriff.

On December 30 Nate Tichenor and his wife came home. Darby met them with the limousine when they got off the train at Gold Run and noticed that they were accompanied by a nurse who held a two-months'-old baby in her arms.

"Hello," said Darby, "I see I got another boss."

"A boy, Darby. We had to have an heir to Eden Valley, you know."

"I suppose you've heard the news about Forlorn Valley."

"Yes, sir. Seems pretty bitter medicine, but they asked for it, as Rube says, and they got it."

"You bet they got it. Have any of the farmers in the district moved out?"

"No, I don't think so. Joe Brainerd says they haven't any place to go, so they're hanging on, hoping the new owners will lease the farms back to them, sir."

"Well, that might be possible. Stow the bags, Darby, and let's go. We must be out in Eden Valley for luncheon."

Halfway through Forlorn Valley they met one farmer who had decided not to wait to be evicted. He was driving a four-horse team attached to a farm wagon upon which were piled his household goods, and on an old mattress atop the load four children sat. His wife was on the front seat with him and following up the wagon came a fourteen-year-old boy on horseback, herding before him some loose work horses, two milch cows and their calves. There was about the sorry cavalcade an atmosphere incredibly forlorn . . . the woman was weeping; as the Tichenor car slid by, the farmer gazed at its occupants apathetically and raised his hand in a gesture that was half a greeting, half a farewell.

"There's one of them moving out, sir," Darby said over his shoulder.

"It's terrible of the bondholders to dispossess them in the middle of winter," Lorry declared.

"That's the man that kicked my ribs loose from my spine," her husband reminded her. "Still, now that his kicks are only a memory, I can't say I'm enjoying his pitiable condition as much as I thought I was going to."

"He waved to you, Nate. He didn't appear to be hostile."

"Oh, he knows me pretty well. I went to school with him. An ignorant chap but not a bad fellow. I wish him luck."

Her hand stole across and over his. "I always knew you couldn't hold a grudge, darling."

"I'm afraid it has to be fed regularly in order to thrive, Lorry, and my grudge against the people of Forlorn Valley has been starved for nearly a year. . . . Well, I went through with it, just as I promised them I would—just as I promised you I would. I can forgive my own enemies, I think, but forgiving yours is quite a different matter."

"I've felt the same about you and your persecutors, Nate. Still, I wish we hadn't met that man and his little family."

He stared stolidly ahead. "Would there be any sense in paying our debt of hate if we couldn't see our enemies suffer?" he demanded.

"Oh, Nate!" He looked at her and saw her eyes were moist with emotion. "We're still hillbillies, dear. We should have stayed outside several years more. We're not quite civilized yet."

"Are you chiding me, Lorry? I can't recall having heard you put in a kind word for these people heretofore."

"I know it, Nate. I had my share of conceit, too." The words came tremblingly. "I thought I could hold a grudge better than you could and I told myself I had to be strong—for your sake. I was afraid you'd weaken—and I wanted you to triumph in a big way."

"Well, I had figured on a very different sort of triumph, sweetheart. I wanted to let the people know that something fine could come out of Eden Valley. But my back is still a little weak; sometimes it hurts—just enough to keep my hate alive—just enough to make me think that mercy would be weakness—"

"Poor dear! So you've been having a rough time, also? I'm glad. I think we ought to fight our fights together and in the open. I think, too, Nate, we ought to be strong for our son's sake. He is so dear to us, why shouldn't we forget our triumph over our enemies and teach him to love humanity, even if human beings often prove unlovable?"

"You're a quitter," he charged.

"There are two little cemeteries up in Eden Valley that are sound arguments in favor of quitting, Nate. We had our code—an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, and we lived up to it; but it seems to me we never derived any happiness from it. I can't be happy in Eden Valley any more, because every time I'll leave it I'll have to drive through this—this desolation—this place where men have lived and loved and fought and struggled and dreamed their futile little dreams—and went away in despair. I'll never forget that wherever these dispossessed people may wander they'll always hate you and me."

"We can get along without their approval, Lorry."

"But can we get along without the approval of Nate Tichenor and Lorry Kershaw, young Robin Tichenor and those that, please God, will come after him?"

"Darby!"

"Yes, sir."

"Turn the car around and overtake that farmer we just passed!"

They passed the man and at Tichenor's command Darby stopped the car and Tichenor got out and walked back to the approaching wagon. The man pulled up, set his brake and waited for Tichenor to speak.

"Hello, Dan," said Tichenor. "You're Dan Clanton, aren't you? We went to school together in Valley Center."

Clanton nodded.

"Where are you headed, Dan?"

"God knows. I don't. The bondholders foreclosed on my farm and told me to go."

"Tell you what you do, Dan—turn around and go back to your farm and stay there until you're evicted. If that happens while there's snow on the ground you just pull out to the old Bar H headquarters in Eden Valley and put up there. The old house is furnished, and you can remain there until spring. You'll be very comfortable. January is a bad month to be out on the road with your wife and children. Besides, I think I can give you a fair job looking after our golf course. Turn around, Dan. You'll have time to get back to the old farm house, get your beds and the cook stove set up and be settled after a fashion before sunset."

"You mean that, Tichenor?"

"Of course I do."

"After what I done to you—"

"Tut-tut, Dan. That was a bully fight while it lasted. I would have forgotten it if you hadn't reminded me of it." He smiled at the man and his wife and entered his limousine, which had turned and was now waiting alongside Clanton's farm wagon.

In silence they drove on toward Valley Center.

"Drive around to Joe Brainerd's plant," Nate ordered Darby as they came into Valley Center.

Obeying the imperious summons of the horn, Joe Brainerd came out and welcomed them. Tichenor explained, "Joe, I have a big story for you—so big I think it's worth getting out an extra and having it in the post office tonight. This is the thirtieth of December and the day after tomorrow will be New Year's day. I have a curious desire to give Forlorn Valley a Happy New Year, and I have also a curious desire to write the head for your story, which must be seven columns wide and in the biggest and blackest type in your shop."

"I'll run your head if I like it, Nate."

"You'll like it. The line is: 'Forlorn Valley Saved.'"

"That's a great head, Nate."

"I thought you'd like it." Dryly. "Joe, I made up my mind to smash Silas Babson—and I did, but in order to smash him I had to smash his bank and in order to smash his bank I had to smash Forlorn Valley.

"Then something of tremendous importance happened. My wife presented me with a son, and I was so grateful to her I bought from that New York bank all of the lands of the Forlorn Valley Irrigation district which had come into its possession by foreclosure. I paid that bank just half what the lands had cost them and I have since deeded the lands to my wife—just a little gift for presenting me with a son. Of course I haven't the slightest idea what Lorry intends doing with Forlorn Valley, but I wouldn't be surprised if she decides to deed back to those people the farms they have lost, taking a first mortgage to secure her for the amount each individual farm was bonded. That will give her better than a half-million-dollar profit."

"And then you'll let the farmers have free water, Nate?"

"Joe, you are much too optimistic. I haven't a word to say about that water. Last year I killed the Mountain Valley Power company and deeded the dam-site and the lake-site back to the Bar H Land and Cattle company. Just abandoned that dream. Then I married Lorry, and we merged the Circle K and the Bar H into a new corporation known as the Eden Valley Land and Cattle company, with powers, under our charter, to sell water. However, the Circle K was a larger and more valuable ranch than the Bar H—and after Lorry had thrown her cattle into the deal I'll be hanged if she didn't emerge from it with a controlling interest in the capital stock. Consequently she controls the water of Eden Valley creek, and she owns most of Forlorn Valley and Lake Babson and a whole smear of canals and laterals, so if she asks my advice in the matter I'll suggest that she hire a good engineer to run her irrigation system, and a bookkeeper to bill the water to the farmers and collect the money and give the poor devils the water at a nominal price for enough years to enable them to catch up even on the losses they suffered when Babson's bank went bust."

"Dan, Turn Around and Go Back to Your Farm and Stay There Until You Are Evicted."

"Nate, that's fine as far as it goes and provided your wife follows your advice, but this valley can't function without a bank."

"I'm supplying that, Joe. The bank building has been ready for months and I have a charter from the superintendent of state banks and will open for business in a week or two. I've hired a good man to be cashier and manager and have told him to be a banker, not a pawnbroker. I think I'll take on Babson's old board of directors. They know more about this valley and its needs than I do, and those that lost their stock in Babson's bank will be permitted to pay for it out of their dividends and the increased valuation of the stock as the years go by."

"Do you know, Lorry, I think we should put in another nine holes of golf and build a nice little club house up in Eden Valley and throw it open to the boys and girls of Forlorn Valley. Get their minds on golf and off rural gossip, you know. Buck 'em up and make 'em feel less provincial. After all, is there any reason why farmer boys and girls shouldn't play golf?"

Lorry made a dive for him; her arms went tight around his neck. "Oh, Nate, you fakir! You fraud! You great-hearted schemer—" And then she was weeping tears of joy in his arms.

"This is certainly a whale of a story," Joe Brainerd mumbled, and wiped his eyes on the hem of his villainous old compositor's apron. "Don't you think I'd better put a box in the center of the page, in black type, to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Tichenor wish Forlorn Valley a happy and prosperous New Year?"

Nate nodded. "Come up for dinner New Year's day, Joe. There are a number of things I want to talk over with you—sort of stand at my right hand and hold the bridge with me."

"Thanks. Happy New Year, folks. Now if you'll excuse me I'll fly at that extra. I want to write the story well and I want to get out what Babson used to call a 'rousing' editorial." He proffered an inky paw to Nate and Lorry in turn. "It's a pretty good old world, after all, isn't it?"

"It is," said Lorry, "if you make it so. Isn't that so, darling?"

"It is," Nate Tichenor replied, with a wink at Joe Brainerd, "even if one has to wing-tip it to make it behave."

[THE END]

New Domestic Animals Have Been Added by Modern Science to Be of Aid to Man

How important have become the new domestic animals added by modern medical and biological science to the short list of creatures domesticated by mankind in previous ages, says Dr. E. E. Free, is indicated by a recent warning of the Wistar institute of Philadelphia, concerning bogus strains of Wistar white rats believed to be on sale by unscrupulous dealers. The number of guinea pigs used as test animals in medical laboratories undoubtedly exceeds by many times the number of wild guinea pigs ever alive at once in their native South America. The tiny vinegar eels sometimes seen under a microscope in old vinegar have been "domesticated" in at least one biological laboratory.

At Yale there is a domesticated strain of the animalcules called paramecia, often found wild in ditch water. Prof. S. O. Mast of Johns Hopkins university has domesticated amebas, another lowly miscroscopic creature of ditches and ponds. The small crablike creatures called Daphnias have been domesticated both as food for aquarium fish and as material for biological experiments. The fruit fly called Drosophila is domesticated in scores of laboratories, where it is used in studies of heredity. A new medical procedure is the treatment of certain bone diseases by living maggots of another fly; so that these, too, have joined the bees as domesticated insects.

The Wistar institute has domesticated for experimental purposes the opossum and the Mexican salamander or axoloti. The chief laboratory animal, however, is the white rat; so useful that pedigrees are kept and purebred strains established just as is done by breeders of pedigreeds horses or dogs.—Pathfinder Magazine.

"To Run the Gantlet"

Gantlet, in this case, was originally gantlope, meaning the passage between two files of soldiers. The reference is to a punishment formerly common among soldiers and sailors. The men were drawn up in two lines facing each other. All were provided with rope ends. The offender had to run down the lane thus formed, all men inflicting punishment as he passed.

HOUSING ADMINISTRATION TELLS HOW TO SECURE REPAIR LOANS

A Statement in Which Every Reader Who Wishes to Improve or Remodel His Property Will Be Interested.

Washington.—The Federal Housing administration is engaged in an elaborate promotion campaign for the remodilization and repair of homes and business property. It is urging the public to make repairs or to do such remodeling of homes as would make them more livable, and advising the people that the national housing act has made it possible to finance through banks or other financial institutions many such repairs or remodelings that would not otherwise be possible. As a means of explaining the operations of this act the Housing administration has issued the following statement:

1. You may have certain property improvements already in mind—the small investments that pay large dividends in better living. Perhaps it's light switches, paint, plumbing, plaster, or a complete remodeling job. In addition to the items you may have planned already, check your property against the list of repairs, alterations and improvements suggested in this booklet.

2. Decide what improvements you can afford to make now—or at least the improvements you cannot afford to neglect any longer.

3. Call a contractor, or—if it's an important job—an architect. Or get in touch with your local better housing committee if there is one in your community. Any of these individuals or agencies co-operating with the Federal Housing administration will gladly estimate the cost.

4. Then comes the question: How shall I pay for these improvements? If you have the cash—cash is the ideal way to pay.

But if you should find it more convenient to pay out of your regular income—the investment is a sound one, and now is the prudent time to go ahead. The better housing program has oiled the machinery of credit so that you may pay easily and conveniently for property improvements made at once.

Your contractor or supply dealer is in a position to co-operate.

Or you may arrange directly for a low-cost, long-payment loan with your own local bank, building and loan association or other financial institution co-operating with the government.

The way has been smoothed—the future of your property is up to you.

Here's What You May Be Asking

1. Who may apply? Any property owner, individual, partnership or corporation, with a regular income from salary, commissions, business or other assured source. It is not necesary to be a depositor in the financial institution consulted.

2. To whom do I apply? To any national bank, state bank or trust company, savings bank, industrial bank, building and loan association or finance company approved by the Federal Housing administration; or to a contractor or building supply dealer.

3. Do I borrow money from the government? No.

4. How much may I apply for? From $100 to $2,000 depending on your income, for improvements on any one property. A like amount in connection with not more than five properties ($2,000 maximum on each). Approval by the Federal Housing administration, Washington, D. C., must be secured by the lender in advance for loans on more than five properties.

5. How long may notes run? For any number of months from one to three years. (Notes extending from 37 months to five years may be submitted to the Federal Housing administration by financial institutions for special consideration.)

6. What security is required? Only that you have an adequate regular income and a good credit record in your community.

7. What assurance need I give?

(a) That you own the property. (Lessees under "repairing leases" may qualify under special circumstances which the local lending institutions can explain.

(b) That the annual income of the signers of the note is at least five times the annual payments on the note.

(c) That your mortgage, if any, is in good standing, and that there are no past due taxes, interest or liens against your property.

(d) That you will use the proceeds solely for property improvement.

8. What signatures are required? Signature of the property owner; and (except in special cases) if the owner is an individual and is married, also signature of wife or husband. No other co-signers or endorsers are required.

9. What is the cost of this credit? The financial institution may not collect as interest and/or discount and/or fee of any kind, a total charge in excess of an amount equivalent to $5 per $100 of the original face amount of a one year note, deductible in advance.

For example: If you need $285 for housing improvements, you might sign a note for $300 payable in 12 equal monthly installments. In this case the note would not bear interest, because the maximum charge permitted ($15) would be included in the face of the note.

If you borrow a large amount, or if you repay in equal monthly installments extending beyond one year—from 13 months to 3 years—the total charge permitted would be at a proportionate rate.

10. Do I pay any other charge? No.

11. How does this cost compare? Compared with ordinary 60 or 90 day bank loans, it is higher. Compared with the same type of loans payable in monthly installments, it is much lower than heretofore available. The reduced cost is made possible because of the government credit insurance to the financial institution.

This type of loan makes it possible for you to spread the payments over a long period. You do not have to keep money on deposit with the institution making the loan. You do not have to give a mortgage. You need not have friends or others sign your note, and you reap the benefits of the improvements now.

12. How do I pay the note? By making regular, equal, monthly payments (seasonal payments for farmers and others with seasonal income) until the note is paid in full.

13. May the owner of any kind of property apply? Applications will be considered for credit to improve one-family, two-family, or other residences; apartment buildings, stores, office buildings, factories, warehouses, farm buildings.

14. Must I use specified building material? No, you are investing your own money (even though borrowed) in better housing. There will be no restrictions on your rights as an owner to use such materials and employ such methods of construction as you may decide—provided they meet the approval of the lending agency.

15. May I borrow to buy housing equipment? Yes, if the equipment is an integral part of the improved building. Furniture, refrigerators, stoves, etc., are movables (unless built in) and are not permitted under terms of your loan.

16. Where do I make payments? The regular installment payments will be made in person at the place of business of the financial institution; or by mail; or as otherwise arranged. No payment shall be made to any governmental office or organization.

17. May I pay the note in full before maturity date? Yes, at any time. A reasonable rebate will be allowed for prepayment, if charges have been collected in advance.

18. May I pay more than one installment at a time? Yes, as many as you wish, but such payments should be in exact multiples of the agreed payments—that is, if monthly payment is $10, advance payments should total $20, $30, etc.—not, for example, odd sums such as $18 or $25.

19. What if I am late in making my payments? The maker must not permit his payments to fall in arrears. Should a payment be more than 15 days late, the financial institution's expense, caused thereby, may be reimbursed in part at the rate of not more than five cents per dollar for each payment in arrears. Persistent delinquency will make it necessary for the financial institution to take proper steps to effect collection in full.

Note: If you are not eligible for a loan under the terms of the national housing act, you may be eligible for a conditioning loan from the Home Owners' Loan corporation, which has recently established a reconditioning division. Any one of the banks in your community will advise you where to make your application.

HERE'S HOW TO SAFEGUARD YOUR INVESTMENT

Your own judgment will tell you that you must invest wisely and thoughtfully—if you would reap the maximum in benefits from property improvements. Here are a few points to remember:

1. Select good workmen. You should personally know the contractor or workman who will handle your job or, if not, check his reputation for responsibility and skill. Probably the only effective safeguard as to price is the securing of competitive bids.

You should not pay for the work or sign a note covering the cost of the work without receiving a written guarantee.

2. Recondition—in its best sense. No item of repair, alteration or improvement should be an attempt to conceal building defects which are more fundamental. If the work involves a large expenditure or major changes in a building—that is, if it involves alterations and new construction rather than mere repairs, it is wise to consult an architect or engineer. Your saving will be much greater than his fee, which may be included in the loan.

3. Consider the neighborhood and the character of the property to be improved. Costs and benefits should be weighed against the building's future and its surroundings. If your application is rejected because of unfavorable neighborhood conditions, you may still become eligible for a loan by enlisting a substantial group of neighbors in a general neighborhood improvement plan.

4. Increase the value of your property by as much—or more than—the cost of the work.

OUR COMIC SECTION

FINNEY OF THE FORCE — Don't Even "Pay" Visits

HELLO, FINNEY! STILL ON THE FORCE, I SEE
YIS INDADE— AN' WHUT BE YEZ ADOIN'?
OH— I'M A COLLECTION AGENT—BILL COLLECTOR, TO YOU
YEZ ARE? OI ALLUS THOUGHT BILL COLLECTORS WUZ VERY DISAGREEABLE PEEPUL
MAYBE SO—BUT DID YOU EVERY THINK OF THE KIND OF PEOPLE THAT DON'T LIKE BILL COLLECTORS? YOU KNOW THERE'S ONE GOOD THING ABOUT MY JOB—WHUT BE THAT?
—THE PEOPLE I CALL ON NEVER RETURN MY VISITS!
© Western Newspaper Union

THE FEATHERHEADS — Second Wind

THIS SURE IS A VERY NICE SPOT YOU PICKED FOR OUR VACATION— BUT I DON'T LIKE THIS SHACK WE HAVE TO LIVE IN
WELL—WHY DO YOU SPEND SO MUCH TIME IN IT, THEN? LET'S GET OUTSIDE FOR AWHILE
RIGHT! LET'S GO!!
THERE'S QUITE A CHARACTER OVER THERE—THE OLDEST INHABITANT— LET'S GO OVER AND TALK TO HIM— HE'S VERY ALERT
ALL RIGHT— I'LL KID HIM ALONG
—NOW TELL ME THIS— DO YOU THINK YOU'LL SEE ANOTHER HUNDRED?
MEBBE I WILL —I BE STRONGER NOW THAN WHEN I STARTED THE FUST HUN'RED
© Western Newspaper Union

POULTRY MARKET

Diner—Waiter, there's a chicken in this egg.

Waiter—Sh! Not so loud—the proprietor will hear you and charge you extra for fowl.

TENDER-HEARTED

"Your cook sits on your front piazza every evening."

"Well, we like the back porch just as well, and of course, we never say anything to hurt cook's feelings in the hot weather."

EVIDENCE

Mrs. B—The home team must have won today.

Mrs. W—Why so?

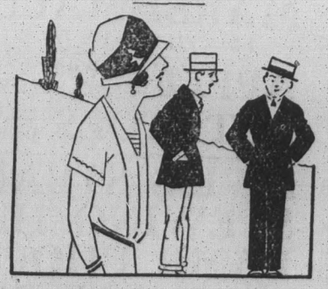
Mrs. B—My husband can scarcely talk above a whisper.

Precaution

"I want to speak to you confidentially," said the deep strategist.

"It can't be done," answered Senator Sorghum. "In order to avoid being misquoted either publicly or privately I have a dictograph under every chair."

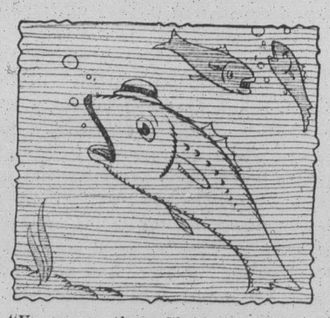
EMPHASIS



"Was she happily married?"

"Happily hardly describes it—I should say she was haply married."

A REAL SPORT



"You say that Shad is quite an oarsman!"

"Sure, haven't you ever seen the shad roe?"

Relief

"Are you going to enjoy your summer vacation?"

"Of course I am," answered Senator Sorghum. "It's going to be a sweet relief not to be expected to say anything myself, nor listen to anybody else."

DIFFERENT WIVES

"With my wife it's a case of 'rule or ruin'!"

"Lucky chap! With my wife it's both!"

OUT O' DATE

Old Gentleman—I believe you are afraid of work.

Happy William—Afraid of it! I ain't even acquainted wid it.

MISSED SOMETHING

"When I was at college I worked so hard at my studies that I didn't have any time for baseball."

"Gee, Dad, you don't know what you missed."

MILK AND BANANAS

Poet—"Fashioned so slenderly"—thus runs that beautiful poem.

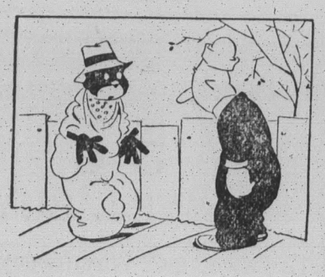
Maid—I must read that poem, I just love to read about ultra fashionable girls.

START EARLY

He (passionately—I would go to the end of the earth for you.

She (calmly)—Good-by.

BANG! BANG!



"Rastus, if you want to prosper in this world, you must go to bed with the chickens."

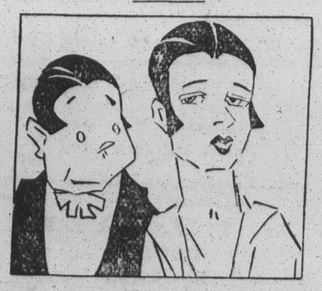
"Yassar, I'se willin' to go to bed wif 'em, but de folks dat owns chickens ain't sufficiently trustful."

BUSY OLD BOY

"He denies his wife nothing."

"Well, that's one way to avoid trouble, if you can afford it."

WHA'S 'AT



Billy—Ah! Now confess? Wouldn't you like to be a man?

Tilly—Of course! Wouldn't you?

For the Landscape Gardener

Home Grounds May Be Beautified in French, English, Italian, and Japanese Styles, the First Two Having the Preference.

The homemaker who delights in beautifying the grounds of her home with gardens has two totally different styles of landscape gardening to follow, the French and English. There are not so many who could satisfactorily develop either the Italian or the Japanese styles. The Italian gardens depend a great deal upon situation and scenic background. These people revel in cascades and artificial water effect, fountains in profusion, etc. They go to endless trouble to pipe water to heights just to have it flow down in rippling streams and feathery fountain sprays through, around, and in their marvelous landscaped areas.

The Japanese feature dwarf plants, trees, and shrubs which require specialized treatment, and which, except in small plots, are too diminutive to prove practical. It is easy to understand, therefore, why these two types of gardens among those most cultivated are not well suited to the usual garden.

The French and English garden treatments are each of the kind which fit in desirably with American gardens. The French treat gardens as circumscribed plots to be walled in with surrounding trees, shrubs, or greenery, almost like the walls of a room, but in which the sky forms the ceiling, while the earth forms the floor.

The English feature vistas in their planning. They do not seek to restrict their vision to the confines of any one inclosed plot, nor the extent of their grounds or estates, however large. They try to capture the eye with the beauty of their gardens, so situated that in so doing they draw attention to some picturesque landscape even as far as the sight can penetrate. A glimpse of the sea across a stretch of land, a vista of hills and valleys or gently undulating fields, green or gay with wild flowers, a tree-lined avenue, a distant waterfall, a ruined castle to capture the imagination, with the sun setting in a flaming sky behind it, or the moon rising above it. Whatever vista there is to feature, the English like to bring it into the garden picture.

These differences do not mean that no French gardens feature vistas, although whatever views there are they are apt to be part of the actual landscaping. Nor does it mean that the English never have walled-in gardens. They certainly do, but usually when the extent of the grounds is small, as with city limits, or when there is little or no beauty of vision apart from that which they are cultivating.

The Americans borrow from all the garden treatments of the world. None the less, they generally find themselves tending towards either the French or the English styles when the homemakers, or land owners develop their own grounds. Since the majority of gardens belong to this latter group, these two well-defined styles deserve especial consideration. If the plot is fenced in or in any way confined, the French treatment is wisest. If there is a beautiful view which can have attention focused upon it, as a sort of garden drop curtain, it seems a mistake not to take advantage of the natural scenic background for which the gaily blossoming garden can form the foreground.

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Housewife's Idea Box

To Wash Berries

If you could pick berries yourself from your own garden, it might not be necessary to wash them before eating them. But it is advisable to wash bought ones. Place them in a colander or large sieve. Lower the colander into a large bowl of clean water. Then drain them. Repeat the process, if necessary.

THE HOUSEWIFE.

Copyright by Public Ledger, Inc.
WNU Service.

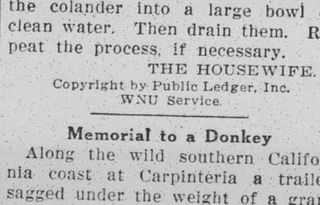
Memorial to a Donkey

Along the wild southern California coast at Carpinteria a trailer sagged under the weight of a granite tombstone, rattling across the desert behind a motor car, on its way to the grave of Cinnamon Pete. Pete was a donkey—just an ordinary donkey. But he became famous because he was so clever at stealing hay, when farmers were paying $80 for it at Virginia Dale, Calif. Eventually the farmers subscribed a fund to feed pete—it saved them their fences, which the donkey used to kick down in his determination to get at the hay. Now they have given him a memorial in imperishable stone.

Mentioning No Names

If they'd put this country on a brass standard, we know a lot of people who would be well fixed.—Los Angeles Times.

Mercolized Wax

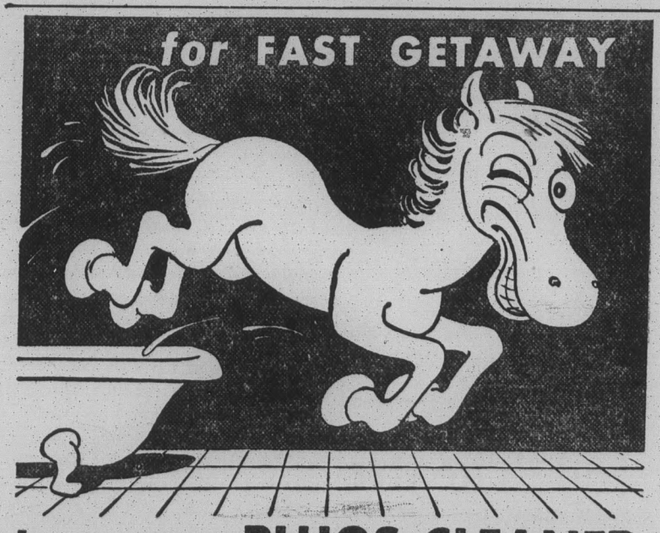


Keeps Skin Young

Absorb blemishes and discolorations using Mercolized Wax daily as directed. Invisible particles of aged skin are freed and all defects such as blackheads, tan, freckles and large pores disappear. Skin is then beautifully clear, velvety and so soft—face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out your hidden beauty. At all leading druggists.

Powdered Saxolite

Reduces wrinkles and other age-signs. Simply dissolve one ounce Saxolite in half-pint witch hazel and use daily as face lotion.



have your PLUGS CLEANED by the NEW AC METHOD—5c PER PLUG

THE QUALITY SPARK PLUG

Dirty spark plugs kill your car's pep—waste as much as 1 gallon of gas in 10. Oxide coating is the chief cause. Let a Registered AC Cleaning Station thoroughly remove oxide coating—every 4,000 miles!

LOOK FOR THE "PLUG-IN-THE-TUB"

Tune in: RAYMOND KNIGHT and the CUCKOOS—Saturdays, 10:00 P.M. Eastern Daylight Saving Time

REPLACE BADLY WORN PLUGS WITH NEW ACs

CUTICURA TALCUM

Pure, smooth, mildly antiseptic, and delicately medicated with fragrant, oriental oils, is ideal for daily toilet use. It protects baby's delicate skin against chafing and irritation, imparts a distinctive fragrance to Mother's skin and cools and soothes Father's freshly shaven face.

Price 25c. Sold at all druggists

LOCAL AND PERSONAL EVENTS

There will be a meeting Saturday evening, 4624 Granger St., at 7:45, for those interested in learning about Utopian principles.

—‡-‡—

The ladies of Trinity Mission Guild will give a card party Wednesday Sept. 19th, at Wallace hall, at 2 p. m. Prizes and refreshments.

—‡-‡—

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clarke and son Robert of Los Angeles spent Sunday in Ocean Beach visiting at the J. Clarke home at 4761 Niagara ave.

—‡-‡—

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cords intend leaving today for a business trip that will take them as far as New York City as well as to a number of places in Canada.

—‡-‡—

A baby son was born September 10 to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Morefield of 4875 Brighton Ave, at National City, Calif. The mother and baby are both doing well. Mrs. Morefield is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Dunn.

—‡-‡—

Miss Priscilla Perry, who had been ill a few days last week, was rushed to La Jolla hospital Friday evening where she underwent an operation, and her many friends will be pleased to learn that she is now recovering in a satisfactory manner.

—‡-‡—

Friends of Mrs. Mae Robertson will be pleased to learn that she is now improving in health, after an operation at San Diego hospital, 7th and G streets, on September 5. For a time Mrs. Robertson was critically ill and we are pleased to report her condition as better.

—‡-‡—

An auto smashup occured at intersection Catalina Blvd., and Narragansett avenue Tuesday about 10 a. m. when cars belonging to Mrs. Steiger of 1055 Albion street and a city truck driven by O. B. Usher disputed for right-of-way. Usher was treated for contusion of chest and hips at the Ocean Beach police station after he had dragged himself from the overturned truck. Mrs. Steiger was able to continue on the way in her own auto.

—‡-‡—

Mrs. Mary L. Roberts, agent for the NuBone Corset Co., is now located at 4721 Voltaire St. Mrs. Roberts has been with this company for 12 years. She has placed models in Mrs. Hendricks novelty shop on Voltaire St. As advertisement in the News she will give free demonstrations.

Mrs. Isabel Kremer, mother of Mrs. J. P. Froide, who has been visiting the Froide's for some weeks, left for Kansas City, Wednesday of last week to be with her two sons there until after Thanksgiving, when she expects to return here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Anderson of Huntington Park, California, spent the week end here at the home of their son, Ray Forsythe, on Ebers street.

—‡-‡—

The regular meeting of the Ocean Beach Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held Thursday, September 20th at the Methodist church at 2 p. m.

—‡-‡—

Mrs. J. C. Nielsen, now in Honolulu, though formerly a resident here on Saratoga and Coronado avenues, was recently informed of the death of her mother, Mrs. Hutchinson, who has been living in Bremerton, Wash.

—‡-‡—

Mrs. Frankie Foelschow of 2870 Evergreen street reported to local police that Tuesday morning while away for a short time she had left the house open and upon her return found someone had entered and taken a pocketbook containing $4 or $5 in change and also a ladies watch.

—‡-‡—

Announcement was made the first of the week of the marriage, August 28, in Yuma, Arizona, of James C. Derrick and Miss Mabel Angeline Bryan. Mr. Derrick is an Ocean Beach lad, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Derrick of 4821 Niagara avenue. The newlyweds it is understood will make their home and continue their studies at State College.

—‡-‡—

Donald Ingham of Yuma came over last Saturday, returning Sunday, taking his family with him, so their two daughters could go back to school. Mrs. Ingham and the children have been occupying the McAlpine cottage the last two months. Mr. Ingham reports the temperature at Yuma as beginning to be endurable once more.

—‡-‡—

Golden Poppy chapter of American War Mothers will have a public card party, Friday, Sept. 21, at 2 o'clock. Bridge and 500 will be played. A door prize and prizes for cards will be given. Refreshments also will be served. The War mothers have only this way in making money to carry on their commendable work among the disabled war veterans and their families. They visit hospitals and take fruit, cigarettes and clothing and so forth if needed. Their hospital chairman visits the veterans who are in Vauclain home and also the veterans who are now in Sawtelle that were once here in the navy hospital.

MIDGET AUTO RACES REPORTED AS EXCITING

Midget auto races will continue at Sports Field by popular demand of fans attending the first sensational race of the little speed wagons. More than 3000 fans cheered the various drivers with their tiny mounts and at no time was there any lack of enthusiasm. Midget motor car racing is evidently a permanent fixture in the world of sports and is taking its place along with the larger cars now racing at Ascot.

Curly Mills, Bill Betteridge, Chris Vest, Everett Balmer and other former triple A drivers are already entered for Saturday nite's gasoline battles.

Qualifying races will start at 7:00 with the program of 9 events getting under way promptly at 8:15.

GRUBER'S

Strand Theatre

OCEAN BEACH, CALIF.

SHOWS START At 7 And 9 P. M.
MATINEE SATURDAY 2:30 P. M.

FRI & SAT SEPT 14-15
"WILD GOLD"
with John Boles, Claire Trevor and Harry Green. Suspense. Action and all that goes with it is what you want.
Mickey Mouse cartoon. 4th chap. Mystery Squadron. Oddity & news.

SUN MON TUE SEPT 16-17-18
"WE'RE RICH AGAIN"
with Edna May Oliver, Billie Burke and Marion Nixon, Reginald Denny, Joan Marsh and Larry "Buster" Crabbe.
Derby Decade with Ruth Etting. The Big Bad Wolf a Liberty 4 star cartoon. News.

WED & THUR SEPT 19-20
"BACHELOR BAIT"
with Stuart Erwin, Pert Kelton, and Skeets Gallagher. An all comedy frolic in the sea of matrimony.
Mrs. Barnacle Bill comedy. Citadels of the Mediterranean travel. News.

ESCONDIDO'S GRAPE DAY CELEBRATION WELL ATTENDED

Thirty or more citizens of Ocean Beach journeyed to Escondido Monday and there joined with some fifteen or twenty thousand other people in celebrating Grape Day and California's Admission Day.

The affair was reported as the most successful and largely attended of any that have been held since first inaugurated 27 years ago.

Ray Forsythe of Ocean Beach was there as leader of the Y. M. C. A. boys band which furnished inspiring music thru the middle of the day.

Ten tons of grapes were given away and the crowd took them all, being portioned out about one pound to a person.

A most splendid agricultural exhibit was displayed with fruits galore and 96 kinds of vegetables. This display was well worth the trip to Escondido and a great advertising medium for the splendid community.

Prominent members of the north end of the county gave short talks of the history of their section and the Grape Day celebration. The main parts of the program were taken up by Congressman George Burnham, Col. Ed Fletcher, Ed V. Izac and a number of others who had difficulty in keeping their subjects away from political significance.

Fighting brush fires with a wind machine, consisting of an airplane propeller mounted in reverse position and capable of creating a 90-mile gale, is being experimented with by forestry authorities in southern California. The wind blows the flames back and throws great clouds of dust and sand into the very teeth of the fire, smothering it.

Nu-Bone Corset Co.

Perfect Fit Guaranteed

Free Demonstrations Tuesdays
At Millinery & Notion Store
4969 Voltaire Street
Model on display at above shop

Established in San Diego 12 years

Mrs. Mary L. Roberts, agt.
4721 Voltaire street

CLASSIFIED ADS

Advertisements under this heading 10c per line for first insertion and 5c per line for each succeeding insertion.

THE MAY COMPANY

Real Estate — Insurance — Rentals

Ask Coleman about his individual auto policy at $22.05 per year, drive any car. 5009 W. Point Loma Blvd. Phone Bafview 0422.

Some Dandy Rockers $1 and up. The Wright Place. 1884 Bacon St. 45tfc

Get your Chimneys and Fireplaces fixed now, new and repair work. HINRICHS & ANSON, Contrs. 4480 Montalvo St. Ocean Beach, phone Bayview 0183-W. 45tfc

HOLDRIDGE — HOUSES $12 up. Phone BV-0192. 2147 Bacon St. 29tfc.

Washing Machines overhauled $3.75 Pickup and del. free. BV 0100. Jim's Elec. Radio Shop 1881 Bacon

If you want to rent or sell your property list with me. As business has greatly improved I need new listings. Bert Wenrich, 2029 Bacon. 25tfc.

See our novelties. The Wright Place. 1884 Bacon Street. 45tfc

Damp dryer washer, like Easy, late model, cost $129.00. Sacrifice for cash. Airway vacuum cleaner $13.50. Radio $12. 2074 Abbott St.

STORAGE SALE—At Ocean Beach Transfer, 1877 Bacon street, bedroom set, overstuffed set, dining set and other articles, reasonable prices. 45tfc

CAMP HOLIDAY AUTO COURT
Cottages, day, week or month, with or without bedding. 5075 Niagara Avenue. 13tfc

WARREN-WALKER SCHOOL
4869 Santa Cruz, BV 0589-W
Pre-school to ninth grade
Dir, Mrs. E. A. Walker. Pac Bch 329

AUTO PAINTING—For estimate on quality work see Ted Hopkins, 4361 Saratoga avenue, Ocean Beach or call L J 2374, 7838 Herschel avenue. 14tfc

See Dumont for rentals, real estate and insurance, 2137 Sunset Cliffs Blvd., Bayview 0944-J.

POINT LOMA LODGE No. 620
F. & A. M.
Stated Meeting First Thursday
Wm. E. Nelson, W. M.
H. K. Rankin, Secretary

WHAT
75c
WILL BUY
Tuesdays and Wednesdays
Shampoo--Hair Cut
Finger Wave
Ocean Beach Beauty Shop
Phone BV 0885 5035 Newport

Professional Cards

MARVIN R. EBY, M. D.
Physician and Surgeon
Phone Bayview 0256-R
1920 Bacon St. Ocean Beach

JOHN PARKS GILMER, M. D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Kraft Bldg., 1889 Bacon Street
Telephones Eye Clinic Saturdays
Office: BV 1007-J 10 A.M. to 12 N.
Res: BV 0581
Res. 4876 West Point Loma Blvd.

Drs. WATTERS & WATTERS
Osteopathic Physicians
Phone Bayview 1162
5002 Niagara Ave., Ocean Beach

Dr. I. W. PARKS
DENTIST
X - RAYS
Office Phone Bayview 0702
Residence Phone Bayview 0438-J
Kraft Bldg. - - - Ocean Beach

Beach Legion Post Will Be Host to County

Ocean Beach post No. 433, the American Legion, will stage its third annual beach party and entertainment at Tich's Tavern, Newport avenue and Abbott street, Friday, Sept. 21. Ralph G. Chadwick, commander of the post, has appointed a committee on arrangements and they report that plans practically are completed for the big affair.

Members of the Legion, the auxiliary, the 40 and Eight and Eight and 40, and Sons of the Legion are being invited. The affair will begin in the afternoon and continue until 2 a. m.

Jimmie Welch, old-time showman, will be master of ceremonies at the beach resort, and promises an array of entertainment that will eclipse anything that ever has been attempted. There will be free dancing after 8 p. m. for all legionaires and their friends, and the service folk are requested to invite their families and eligible members to the organizations.

It is expected that the 40 and Eight Dutch band, the Escondido Legion band, the Lone Star Cowboy band, and other musical organizations will be in attendance and do their best for the entertainment of the crowds who are to be guests of the legionaires. Post No. 6 drum corps and drill team also have been invited, and their colorful uniforms will lend dignity and splendor to the affair.

A number of the best entertainers in the city are to be seen on the stage. They have volunteered to assist the post, as has the members of the auxiliary unit. Many legion and auxiliary members are being invited from the county units and posts, including Imperial Valley cities. It is expected that all district commanders and presidents of the organizations also will be present.

"American Legion night" at the beach resort will be another of the big Legion affairs staged by the county during the new year.

The committee on arrangement wants it known that there is nothing to sell, and they are invited to the resort expressly to have a good time. There also will be free barbecue, refreshments and a world of entertainment.

The Ocean Beach post, according to commander Chadwick, is off to a flying start this year—the Legion year begins Oct. 20—and this affair will assist the post and auxiliary members to remain on the map as one of the live organizations of the 24 Legion posts in San Diego county.

"Bring your friends and enjoy Sept. 21, with us," is the message being sent out by the committee in charge.

AMERICAN LEGION

OCEAN BEACH POST NO. 433 and AUXILIARY

At the last monthly meeting of the San Diego County council held August 21, 1934, motion was passed that officials of the San Diego Exposition be requested to designate November 11 as American Legion Day and that the County council offer their cooperation to the officials to assist in making this date a success.

On Thursday, September 20, the next regular open meeting of the Ocean Beach post and auxiliary will be another of those delightful beach parties where everyone is to bring a basket lunch. It is expected that another softball ball game will be staged between the ladies and the men, as well as the usual big bonfire for roasting weenies and marshmallows. The supper will start at 5:30 p. m. and then at 7 p. m. there will be a speaker from the Community Chest. There will be lights at the pergola tables at the foot of Santa Monica street and all Legionnaires and their families are urged to attend.

Keep your eyes open and read your local paper for announcements of the big Legion night to follow, at which all the Legion posts in the county will participate to help boost Ocean Beach.

Pot luck dinner by the post and auxiliary will be held on the beach, September 20th, at 6 p. m. Legionaires and friends are cordially invited. Bring own food and table service. Coffee will be furnished free by the auxiliary.

Ocean Beach juniors (daughters of Legionaires) will hold their meeting September 21, at 3:30 p. m. in the American Legion hall. Mrs. Eulberg in charge All daughters of Legionaires are eligible.

The News does Job Printing

See All The Others
Then See The
Stewart-Warner Refrigerator
STRAND RADIO Co.
(Next Door to Post Office)
4985 Newport Avenue Phone Bayview 0414

FRIED'S
NEW FALL PRICES

Boys Cord Pants	1.95	White Middies	95c
Men's Black Oxfords	2.00	New Fall Hats	1.45
Men's Preshrunk Broadcloth Shirts			1.00
Girls Bobbie Socks, new colors,	2 pair		25c
Children's Good Wearing Shoes			1.00

Ladies Millinery at Lower than down town prices
We just received the New Fall Shades in
Humming Bird Hose, chiffon and service wgt. 85c & 1.00

Virginia "D" Cafe Cor. Cass & Garnet Pacific Beach
TURKEY DINNERS (Sundays) 50c HOME MADE PIES
Beer on Draught and Bottled
SHORT ORDERS and REGULAR DINNERS 35c and 50c

Will Exchange For Home Here
AND ASSUME UP TO $1,000
This good 8-room brick house, 2-car garage on lot 100 x 140, very best residence corner, Ashton, Idaho. Town is extra good trading and agricultural center, division point for R. R. and highways, 60 miles from Yellowstone Park.
Mrs. H. H. Hartvigsen
Ocean Beach News. Phone BV 0741

Bottle Beer On Ice
16 oz. Bottles, 2 for 25c
11 oz. Bottles, 10c
FABER'S
PHONES: BAYVIEW 0217 and 0415.
Groceries, Meats, Fruits & Vegetables

MacMARR STORES AND SAFEWAY STORES
DISTRIBUTION WITHOUT WASTE
We are featuring many delicious and nutritious foods for your Children's School Lunches

Cloverbloom BUTTER, lb.		31½c
FANCY CREAMERY IN QUARTERS
A.Y. BREAD, Sandwich Loaf		9c
WHITE OR WHEAT
BUTTER CRACKERS, box		14c
N.B.C. FLAKE BUTTER CRACKERS
AIRWAY COFFEE, lb.		19c
FRESH ROASTED AND GROUND
MARSHMALLOWS, 2 boxes		25c
FLUFFIEST—1 lb BOXES
APPLES FANCY BELLFLOWER	12 lbs.	25c
POTATOES QUALITY BURBANKS	10 lbs.	15c
SWISS STEAKS	lb.	19c
STEWING HENS	lb.	19c
LAMB CHOPS	lb.	19c
BEEF POT ROAST	lb.	9c